WON AVIATION CUP

American Carried Off Honors With His Flying Machine.

GLENN CURTISS BEATS WORLD

Flew More Than Twelve Miles at Rate of More Than 47 Miles an Hour—French Viator Came Next.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Bethany Viation Field, Rheims, France, Aug. 28.—The international cup of aviation, known also as the Gordon-Bennett trophy, was won today by Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, in the fastest aerial journey of twenty kilometres (12.42 miles) ever accomplished by man. His time 15 minutes 50 3-5 seconds (at the rate of 47.65 miles an hour) was only 5 3-5 seconds faster than that made by Bleriot over the same course.

The other two pilots who represented France (Latham and Lfebvre) finished respectively in 17 minutes 32 seconds, and 20 minutes 47 3-5 seconds. Cockburn, an Englishman, ran into a haystack as he was manoeuvering for the start and did not cross the line. Several other machines which were expected to start, were not ready within the time limit.

The race lay between Bleriot and Curtiss with Latham as a possible outsider, Lefebvre on previous performances apparently had no chance. Fortune favored the American.

An accident two days ago to Bleriot's powerful fast machine, with which he held the lap record, was a serious handicap, since he had no opportunity to try out the repaired machine. Curtiss stole a march on his rivals by getting away early. Finding conditions favorable at 10 o'clock in the morning, he decided to take no chances in the fickle weather and after a trial trip in which he made the circuit of the course in 7 minutes 55 1-5 seconds, lowering the world's record nine seconds, he started immediately on his attempt to win the cup.

He handled his machine, which flew along at a speed never before witnessed, in masterly style, especially at the turns which he took on the down grade. The first round, measuring 6.21 miles, was made in 7 minutes 57 2-5 seconds, somewhat slower than the trial time, but the second round was covered in 7 minutes 53 1-5 seconds for the round. Then he substituted a two bladed propeller but this proved slower still and the French began to doubt the ability of their champion. Bleriot replaced the original propeller and tinkered with his machine for several hours.

In the meantime Lefebvre, in a Wright biplane, flew over the course, but his time was five minutes slower than that of Curtiss.

The excitement grew steadily as 5 o'clock, which the public understood was the time limit for starting in this event, approached.

At 5 o'clock the crowds concluded that the two French champions had defaulted and a murmur of protest arose but a minute later it was officially announced that wording of the rule had been misunderstood and that rule allowed a start to be made any time before half past five o'clock. A few minutes later Bleriot and Latham crossed the line in quick succession.

Bleriot went by the tribunes at a terrific pace and for a moment the Americans feared Curtiss would be beaten. He finished the round in almost the identical time of Curtiss' fastest lap, covering the ten kilometres in 7 minutes 53 3-5 seconds, but

DIED AT SCOTT'S HILL.

Mr. J. C. Ormsby Passes Away After Long Illness—The Family.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Scott's Hill, N. C., Aug. 28.—On Friday, Aug. 20th, after a long illness, Mr. J. C. Ormsby passed away here in the 61st year of his age. He was twice married, first to Mrs. Williams, of Pender county, as the result of which union four children survive him, D. W. Ormsby, of Wilmington; J. E. Ormsby, of Lakeland, Fla.; Mrs. Ellen Westbrook, of New Hanover county, and Mrs. Annie James, of Pender county. On January 13th, 1892, he was aagin married to Mrs. Sarah Pope, who now survives him. He was indeed a gentleman of that old school, whose disciples are so rapidly passing from earth. A philosopher above the charm of gold and the blandishments of earth's fleeting and unsatisfying fame. Simple in his habits, tireless in industry, faithful to duty, a devoted husband, father and friend. He has passed to judgment and his works do follow him. A member of that brilliant and dashing regiment, the Third North Carolina Cavalry, his sword flashed upon many a crimsoned field until that holy cause sank down in defeat yet soared to eternal fame, wreathed with shining glory by the heroic daring of these spirits of flame.

We laid him to rest in the quiet churchyard here, beneath the shade of its grand and beautiful oaks, through whose emerald leaves the sun came filtering in flashes of gold and gilding with new splendor the beautiful flowers which loving hands had placed upon the old soldier's grave and we left him there alone with God to aawit the eternal morn.

PREACHER A BIGAMIST.

Second Wife Finds That He Has Wife and Child in England—Arrested.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Connellsville, Pa., Aug. 28.—Robert Martin Matthews, formerly a pastor of Welsh Congregation in South Connellsville, was arrested here today charged with bigamy.

The information was made yesterday before a Pittsburg Alderman by John H. Martin, a brother of Mrs. Matthews No. 2.

Recently Mrs. Matthews came to believe her husband had a wife in Liverpool, England, and she made a trip to that city to substantiate her belief. Mrs. Matthews discovered that her husband had not only a wife in the English city, but also an eight-year-old child.

The pastor was brought to Pittsburg tonight and held before an Alderman for a court hearing Monday.

THE LONGFELLOW CASE.

Jury Seems Hopelessly Divided in Trial at Kinston, N. C.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 28.—Interest continued unabated in the Longfellow bigamy case here today and the court room was crowded at every session until it was given to the jury at 1 o'clock. Argument was closed at 12:30 when Judge Ward delivered his charge. The jury was called into court at 4 o"clock and again at 6:30 and given some additional instructions, but it was intimated that they were hopelessly disagreed and it appears a certainty almost at 8:30 that a mistrial will result.

BASLE WON IN A RENAULT

Fearless Autoist Drove His Car 1,050 Miles in 24-Hour Race at Brighton Beach—Thousands See Finish—No Accidents.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Brighton Beach Motordrome, New York, Aug. 28.—The Renault car driven by Charles Basle, won the 24-hour automobile race here tonight in go-as-you-please fashion. The car traveled 1,050 miles, 118 miles less than the record made by Robertson and Lescault last year, but 112 miles more than its nearest rival in this race.

The final score of the other competitors follow: Ranier, Disbrow and Lunt, 938 miles, Acme, No. 3, Patchke and Maynard, 883 miles; Palmer, Singer, Lescault and Howard 870 miles; Allen-Kingston, Hughes and Egicli, 866 miles, Acme No. 4, Vantine and Kayouh, 760 miles.

The finish was one of the tamest ever seen here in a contest of the kind. It was apparent early in the day that the Renault would win, as it had held the lead by a continually increasing margin. Basle showed good judgment at every stage of the contest, his work being devoid of any recklessness The track conditions precluded any possibility of record time.

Four of the racers which started at 10 o'clock last evening failed to finish—the Stearns, wrecked in the fatal collision last night which resulted In the death of its mechanician, Leonard Cole, and the fatal injury to its driver, Laurent Grosse, the Fiat wrecked in collision with the Allan-Kingston, the Lozier, which turned turtle on a turn early in the race and the Houpt withdrew today.

The last hour of the race was almost devoid of interest. Nearly 20,000 spectators witnessed the finish.

Laurent Grosse, driver of the Stearns, whose shin was broken last night in the fatal collision, was operated on today at the Coney Island hospital. His chances of recovery are slim. The other persons injured will all recover.

BOTH FOUND GUILTY

Breese and Dickerson Convicted and Sentenced to Prison.

CONSPIRED TO DEFRAUD BANK

End of Sensational Bank Trial in Asheville—Get Terms of Two Years With a Fine of $2,500 Bonds Furnished.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 28.—William E. Breese and Joseph E. Dickerson were today found guilty of the charge of conspiring to defraud the First National Bank, of Asheville, the jury which has heard the case since July 26th, coming into court today with a verdict which recommended the mercy of the court.

Judge Newman promptly sentenced each of the defendants to serve two years in the Atlanta penitentiary, the maximum under the statute, and to pay a fine of $2,500.

Motion for a new trial and an arrest of judgment was made by defendants' counsel and set for hearing before Judge Newman September 4th, each of the defendants being required to give bond in the sum of $5,000 for appearance then, such bonds being promptly furnished.

The jurors took three ballots. On the first ballot last night the vote was nine for conviction and three for acquittal. On the second ballot the vote was ten for conviction and two for acquittal and on the third ballot taken this morning the vote for a verdict of guilty was unanimous.

MANCHESTER CLOTH MARKET.

Quotations Raised Because of Higher Price of Cotton.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 28.—The recent indications of an improved demand on the cloth market have failed to materialize and the week's turnover was again disappointing. The persistent advance in the price of cotton has made manufacturers raise quotations, which buyers are unwilling to pay. India bought some light fabrics for immediate use and South America absorbed the usual miscellaneous descriptions, but in other directions business was difficult to arrange.

Yarns experienced a better inquiry and although business was below the average, fair sales were effected at an advance of 1-8. Owing to the reductions of stocks, spinners were enabled to adopt a firm attitude.

DEATH AT LUMBERTON.

Mrs. Thomas Prevatt Passed Away After Lingering Illness.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 28.—'Tis with deep sorrow that we anounce the sad death of Mrs. Thomas Prevatt, who passed away this morning about 8 o'clock. Mrs. Prevatt had been suffering from bronchitis for several weeks, which turned into pneumonia, which caused her death. She leaves a husband, one brother, one sister, three daughters and two sons to mourn their loss. The interment will take place at Clyburn church tomorrow evening at 3 o'clock. The funeral will be preached by Revs. Hoyle and Cobb.

Death of Young Lady.

Many friends in the city were pained to learn yesterday morning of the death of Miss Nellie Lacy Brown, at the residence of her sister, Mrs. F. J. Egan, 914 Princes sstreet, at 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning, after an illness of six months or more. For the past several days her condition had been regarded as critical and her death was not entirely unexpected. Miss Brown was 26 years old and for some time had made her home here with her sister. She formerly resided in Petersburg, Va. ,and the remains will be taken there today for interment. Her father, Mr. W. J. Brown, resides in Richmond, Va.

WARM WIRELETS.

Two persons are dead and a score are injured, six dangerously, as the result of a head-on collision between a heavily loaded Wabash passenger train No. 51, and a freight train one mile south of Glenwood, Mo., last night.

Two men jumped into a $4,000 automobile and got away with it in the heart of the theatrical district of New York last night, although pursued for more than 10 blocks on Broadway by another car. Pedestrians were scattered and traffic squad policemen were startled by the wild race. The thieves gained such headway that the pursuing car gave up the chase.

TRIPLE CLAIMS FOR PENNANT

Wilmington and Fayetteville Claim Tie With Wilson for the "Rag"—No Statement From Secretary Gowan at Raleigh.

The Eastern Carolina Baseball League season came to a close with the games yesterday afternoon, Wilmington deefating Raleigh three to two in a game full of senseless wrangling, during which the visitors twice left the diamond, threatening to forfeit the game locally, Fayetteville having taken both ends of a doubleheader from Goldsboro and Wilson having deefated Rocky Mount in the last of the games there.

The sensational wind-up has resulted in a triple claim for the pennant between Fayetteville, Wilmington and Wilson, Manager Gwaltney, of Wilmington, declaring that President Washington, of the League, has no right to throw out the Luyster games in face of the action of the directors who voted at the Goldsboro meeting to let the percentage column stand as it was and claiming that Wilson by not playing a doubleheader at Rocky Mount yesterday forfeited one game. In this position he says that he has the support of Goldsboro, Rocky Mount and Fayetteville, with whom he was in long distance telephone communication last night, and that he will leave with his team this morning for Freensboro to play for the championship of the State, returning here for three games the last of the week, with an extra game on Labor Day to play off any tie that may result from the post season series.

In the meantime Wilmington has the pennant won last year and Manager Gwaltney will stand a law suit before he'll see the "rag" go elsewhere. The situation is both interesting an damusing. With a view of getting an official opinion on the relative standing of the clubs, the Star last night telegraphed to Secretary R. T. Gowan, of the eLague, asking for a sttaement of the standing of the clubs at the close of yesterday's hostilities, but an answer could not be secured after repeated requests. The Raleigh News and Observer this morning telegraphed its standing as follows:

"Official standing given out by R. T. Gowan:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Wilson	50	39	.562
Wilmington	50	40	.556
Raleigh	49	41	.544
Fayetteville	49	41	.544
Goldsboro	43	46	.483
Rocky Mount	8	61	.315

Then News and Observer's record with the Luyster games out is:

Wilson	51	39	.567
Wilmington	50	40	.556
Fayetteville	49	41	.544
Raleigh	48	42	.533
Goldsboro	43	46	.483
Rocky Mount	27	62	.303

In view of subsequent developments, little needs to be said of the game yesterday. Both teams went in to win or die in the attempt. Eighteen hundred people lined the bleachers and grandstand to witness the contest and the very atmosphere of the grounds was surcharged with excitement from start to finish. Sexton was sent in for Wilmington; Fulenwider for Raleigh, and Levy, of Wilmington, and Booles, of Raleigh, to umpire. Each team managed to shove a man around the corners to third in the first and second innings, but there was nothing doing in the tally line. Each team was up and down in order in the third, except a bingle over third by Sexton, but Jayes was down previously and Nichols and Guerrant were out in order. In the fourth, after Raleigh was out inorder, Wilmington started the trouble when Smith hit hot to short and went to second on wild throw to first; Ross sacrificed him to third and while in to bat Brodie stepped over the plate, but did not reverse, and while Rowe and others were arguing with Levy that he was out, Smith stole home. That brought on more argument and the Raleigh team retired from the diamond, but finally over his protest, Brodie was ruled out and Kite went to bat, being safe on error of short; Brennan was up and Kite stole second, but Brennan was out third to first.

Raleigh tied the score in the fifth when Thumb was safe on Nichols' muff and was sacrificed by Brumfeld, Sexton to Nichols, scoring on Rowe's single to centre. But Rowe was caught by Sexton between first and second and Fully was out second to first. Wilmington added two more and brought on a lot of further argument in its half. Jayes started with a single to centre, went to second on passed ball and to third on Sexton's fly sacrifice to deep centre; Nichols then hit to short and while the better part of the infield was engaged in trying to catch Jayes between third and home, all hands were safe, Nichols going to second; Smith then hit to third too hot to handle and Jayes and Nichols scored, but Raleigh claimed that Nichols was hit by a fairly batted ball and was out, while Wilmington claimed the ball had first touched the mit of Hart. Raleigh again left the field and there was extended argument after which Raleigh announced they would continue to play, but under protest. Fulenwelder, however, refused to return to the box and Booles was taken off the umpiring and sent in, Ross flying to left.

In the sixth Raleigh refused to furnish another player-umpire and there was more kicking, after which all hands agreed that Mr. Charles E. Taylor, Jr., should umpire the game in place of the players and the game progressed. Hart and Crozier bunched hits on Sexton in the confusion and Hoover got in a sacrifice; Haas hit to Smith at short and Hart was thrown out at the plate; Irwin was then up and on double steal, Crozier scored, Irwin being out to first unassisted. That was the last of the scoring and with Mr. Taylor at the helm and Howard sent in to pitch for Wilmington in the next inning, the game progressed without further disturbance, Wilmington winning three to two.

Fayetteville Lays Claim.

Fayetteville, N. C., Aug. 28.—The Fayetteville Highlanders tied Wilmington for the pennant of the Eastern Carolina League, "any hot air emanating from Raleigh to the contrary notwithstanding" by taking two games from Goldsboro today, after one of the grandest fights ever made by a minor league team, going from the bottom to the top of the percentage column between July 8th and Au-

PEONAGE-BRIBERY CHARGE

Alleged Brutal and Outrageous Conduct of Pressed Steel Car Company—Men Terribly Beaten—Speak Easy.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Pittsburg, Aug. 28.—Following three hours of bristling testimony exposing alleged conditions at the Pressed Steel Car Company's plant at Schoenville, where 3,500 men are on strike, the Federal inquisitorial session into peonage charges against that corporation were terminated, as far as public hearings were concerned late today. Government Agent H. W. Hoagland and three secret service men will continue the investigations from now on secretly.

Man after man, fully a score of them, took the stand today and hurled accusations at the car company officials, the allegations ranging in scope from attempted bribery to running a "speak easy" where whiskey is said to have been sold for 50 cents a pint.

Allegations that one of the strike-breaker guards is none other than "Big Jack" Sheppard, formerly a New York strike breaker, and a member of the Monk Eastman gang, created a lively sensation.

Damaging testimony against the car company's alleged methods was offered, a bloody shirt shown by one witness being mute evidence of the methods said to have been adopted by the strike breaker guards.

Man after man testified that it was impossible for him to leave the Pressed Steel Car Company's plant, the sensational charges reaching a climax when Frank Clancy, a brick layer, of Chicago, said that Samuel Cohen, chief strike breaker, had offered him $100 to withdraw a rebellious petition circulated among the dissatisfied workmen.

Fearing to return to the car plant after the evidence given by them had been placed on record in the form of affidavits, the witnesses asked protection of Sheriff Gumbert, which was accorded, deputy sheriffs and State constables accompanying the witnesses to the car company office where they were paid off.

As the result of today's government probe, it is reported that the United States Department of Immigration may now institute a series of investigations into whether foreigners were taken from ships in American harbors and shipped directly to the Schoenville plant without being passed through the office of the immigrant inspectors.

Desertions today numbered over half a hundred men. Of these nearly all joined the strikers' force.

Little trouble was anticipated by the authorities tonight, though he number of State constables and deputies was doubled at sun down around the car plant stockade.

HUNDREDS OF LIVES LOST

Property Loss Estimated From $1,000,000 to $2,000,000—Homes of Inhabitants Swept Away—It Rained Forty-Eight Hours.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Laredo, Texas, Aug. 26.—Reports reached this city this evening of one of the most disastrous floods that has ever been experienced in Northern Mexico, caused by the overow of the Mexico, caused by the overflrow of the the rumors there has been a great loss of life, estimated as high as between 100 and 300 persons, and the property damage anywnere from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. For the past 48 hours a veritable deluge of rain has been falling, which toegther with the flow of water from the adjacent mountains into the Santa Catarina river, so swelled that stream that it reached a width of a mile and a half and completely overflowed certain portions of the city of Monterey, wrecking houses and causing loss of life as it rampaged on its mad course.

The reports reaching Laredo as to the life loss in Monterey are so varied that it is impossible to state the number with any certainty. The total number of lives lost in the flood has been repored as high as 1,000, but it is thought that is a gross exaggeration, due to the chaotic conditions prevailing. However, it is certain that the flood was the most terrible in the history of the river, and that the loss of life will be great.

Monterey, which is a city of approximately 70,000 inhabitants, is in a valley, between huge mountains and is traversed by the Santa Catarina river.

Death of Miss Barbara Armstrong.

The news of the death at Hallsboro of Miss Barbara Armstrong, an inmate of the Catherine Kennedy Home, who was at Hallsboro on a visit to relatives, was received here yesterday with regret by a large number of friends. She had been in decining health for some time and for the past few days her condition grew gradually worse until the end came Friday. The funeral and interment was at Hallsboro. Miss Armstrong was in the Catherine Kennedy Home here for more than twelve years and was known and most highly esteemed by a large number of people.

Lively Personal Encounter.

A lively personal encounter occurred in front of Mr. Melvin Horne's pool room, on Princess street, at 10:30 o'clock last night, the combatants being a Mr. King and another man named Fales. The belligerents were "going it" at a lively rate when they were separated by Justice George Harriss and Mr. Roger Moore. Justice Harriss placed the men under arrest an drecognized them for trial Monday. The men fell out over some business matter. Mr. Fales appeared to have gotten the worse of the difficulty, having received two or three bruises in the face.

Local Game Laws.

An enthusiastic local sportsman called up The Star last night to say that the open season for marsh hens does not begin until September 1st, and even after that date no one person will be allowed to kill more than 15 per day. He also calls attention to the fact that it is unlawful under the new game law to sell Summer duck, woodchuck or snipe in New Hanover, Brunswick or Pender counties at any time during the year.

Six firemen were seriously injured in fighting a fire tonight in the Pioneer whiskey house of W. L. Weller & Sons, at Louisville, Ky., last night & Sons, at Louisville Ky. The loss is $50,000. It took two hours to check the ames and keep them from spreading through the block which is famous for being occupied almost solidly by rectifiers and distillers with heavy and valuable stock.

SUPPORTING THE HOME PAPER.

The Newbern Daily Sun is moved to say:

"There are concerns in Newbern who advertise in papers in other places who never carry a line in their home papers, and still these same ones are usually asking favors of their home papers, and the most apt to criticise and find fault."

Unfortunately what the Sun says is too true and it applies to more places than Newbern. Some of the citizens who do that mean well, or they think they do, and some will acknowledge their error if they are convinced of it while others will get huffy. We doubt not there are citizens of Newbern who think that Newbern ought to have a paper three times better than any there, but when they are pinned down it will be found that they neither subscribe to nor advertise in the paper. If all citizens were just like them Newbern would have no paper at all much less one that is as representative as those now in the field endeavoring and hoping one day to develop into truly good newspapers.

A newspaper publisher makes just as good a newspaper as his receipts from subscriptions and advertisements will warrant him in making. It is always a publisher's ambition to get out a creditable sheet but he can not do it on wind, and hot air certainly won't take the place of money to pay expenses.

The better a newspaper is supported, the better paper it will be. It represents just the amount of public spirit there is in a town, and sometimes it represents a good deal more.

Many a knocker of a daily paper couldn't get out a weekly sheet if one were turned over to him, but sometimes friendly critics make good suggestions which publishers appreciate and profit by. It is the citizen who want to help you to build up that is a welcome kicker, but the fellow with a grouch and free advice that hasn't got anything in it and who doesn't show up any long green to pay for getting out the paper, is the individual that the publisher places on his list of undesirable citizens.

Some times it is a good idea to knock the knockers so they can see themselves as others see them. The man who subscribes and advertises in his home paper helps himself, helps his town, and helps the paper. The knocker should at least contribute something to a paper's assets before he undertakes to knock, or else he is doing business without a license.

OPINIONS DIFFER.

Charity and Children, published under the auspices of the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville, N. C., says:

"A baseball enthusiast, taking exceptions at some strictures recently made in these columns against that pestiferous game, sends us the analysis of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, which is advertised in this paper. We judge he intended that as an argument in favor of baseball!"

The evident purpose of the fan was to indulge in recrimination. His aim was to take a short cut to emphasize the old saying that a fellow should sweep around his own door before he tells the other follow that he should make things clean around his door.

Editor Johnson is a conscientious man and he believes that baseball is pernicious. The fan believes that baseball is an innocent, healthy, muscle-making, entertaining sport, while at the same time he is confident that certain patent medicines full of dope are injurious to the human race and that it is wrong to advertise them, just the same as some people regard it as hurtful to advertise whiskey and cocaine.

The friend of baseball made no argument in favor of the game. He fired a mere retort at the editor, not stopping to thing that newspaper publishers have no knowledge of the ingredients of any medicine that he advertises The fact is many remedies advertised contain drugs that are pernicious and dangerous if wrongly used while they may be beneficial when used right.

The Pure Food Law is supposed to protect the public from nostrums and for that reason it requires the formulas to designate the proportion of narcotics which they contain. Until they are prohibited by law it is legitimate for them to be advertised, unless a newspaper publisher's conscience dictates otherwise.

Some times it is as hard for a newspaper man to decide what he should leave out of his paper as it is to pass judgment on what he puts into it, and the fact that Editor Johnson and the fan have differences of opinion on baseball and soothing syrup shows how hard it is for people to look through the same spectacles. Both may be right or both may be wrong as each individual in the aggregate decides for himself.

RED BUCK'S STORIES.

Mr. H. E. C. Bryant, the Charlotte Observer genius, who flourishes and makes reputation under the soubriquet of "Red Buck," is to publish a book. It is to embrace a score or more of Red Buck's choicest newspaper stories that have made a hit, and it is hardly worth while saying that many of his writings are eminently worthy of being preserved in book form.

Red Buck gets his "entitles" from the auburn hirsute that covers the seat of his intellectuality. There is a pretty good store of intellect under that red hair and the Charlotte Observer has done a good thing by tapping it for the edification of its readers. Mr. Bryant's newspaper work has been of a high order and it has marked him as a genius. When he is confined to regular newspaper work in Charlotte he makes good, and when sent away to Washington he holds his own as a racy and well equipped correspondent in a field where a newspaper man has to know his business.

Mr. Bryant has a style of his own and an individuality that is unique, and we will welcome his book as a splendid means for the conservation of some of the gems selected from his best productions in the Observer. His book should meet with appreciation throughout North Carolina and the Star hopes it will lead him into a broader field of authorship.

A London physician announces that he has discovered "the bacillus of beauty" and by innoculating a lady with a minimum of personal pulchritude she will become a beauty of either the blonde, brunette or intermediate class. Huh! the bacillus which he claims to have discovered runs riot in North Carolina and gets in its work all over the State.

Scientists declare that a man who can jump six inches high on the earth could easily jump 20 feet into the air on Mars, owing to the lesser attraction of gravity there. However, the real question is whether it is easier to jump a board bill in Mars.

The editor of the Savannah Morning News, referring to the feats of the aviators, writes interestingly on "The Conquest of the Air." What we youngsters would like to get a tip on is "The Conquest of the Heiress."

Speaking of the Confederate reunion at Charlotte, the Evening Chronicle says: "None of them had a better time than Shake Harris." Bet you none of them tried to shake Harris either.

The Charlotte Chronicle alludes to baseball as "a fever." Brother Johnson, of Charity and Children, believes it is a sin. Whatever it is, the thing is contagious.

In Asheville hammocks are offered at half price. This indicates that the hammock on the porch will soon give way to the sofa in the parlor.

A portion of Georgia is advertised as "the land of promise." Around Wilmington it is the land that pays the cash. Take your choice.

"What is a baby worth?" inquires the Philadelphia American. Well, it's hard to tell what they are worth to the druggist, for one.

Time is wasted in advocating sheep raising in a country where a man will fight you if you kick his cur dog.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—"Mr. Balfour endorses Tillman's theory regarding the colored races" is the decision of a Northern paper relative to England's position on the race question. Mr. Balfour has likewise endorsed the laws of nature, which no doubt seems a colossal blunder to our Northern contemporary.—Charleston News and Courier.

—Wilmington has a near-airship. There is certainly a plenty of wind in and around Wilmington, but it might be dangerous to fly an airship down there as it might come down upon the sea. When President Taft visits the city by the sea in November the airship will come in well by leading the procession. Good roads and airships will yet make Wilmington win. If the capital is ever moved, why not locate it at Wilmington and let the East build up the State from the center of the earth to the sky? Newbern was once the capital of the State when Tryon was Governor and everybody adimts that the Cape Fear section can afford the State Capital.—Eastern Carolina News.

—The suggestion by a correspondent, "Duplin Democrat," elsewhere in this issue of the Tribune, of the name of Dr. John M. Faison, of Faison, as a possible candidate for the Democratic Congressional nomination in this district, is the most interesting development of the week, and adds considerable ginger to the already interesting situation. While Dr. Faison has not made formal announcement of his candidacy, it is quite probable that he will do so in the near future, and we understand that the list will be augmented and enlivened by perhaps several other entries before many more moons. Dr. Faison is splendidly equipped for this position of honor and trust. He is a man of scholarly attainments, and there are few men in the district his superior as a debater and campaigner. No man in the district has been more active for the cause of Democracy. Both upon the stump and with his fluent and trenchant pen while editor of the Duplin Journal, he has always been a consistent and persistent champion of right as it was given him to see it. Not even his most bitter political enemies can deny that he is a man of deep convictions, and that the word policy is foreign to his make-up when it comes to a question of right against wrong.—Mount Olive Tribune.

—"You seem to be considerably elated over something." "Yes. I have a friend who is almost stone deaf. I took him out home with me last night, and my wife had to sit there all the evening and merely nod and smile while he talked."—Chicago Record-Herald.

—Rocky Mount, Aug. 27.—Held under a charge of attempted criminal assault, John Watson, a middle aged white man and former employe of the Atlantic Coast Line, must answer to these charges at the Saturday morning session of the recorder's court, and there are statements made by Mrs. Lucy Williams that will mean trouble for the prisoner. The warrant for the arrest of this man was sworn out at a late hour last night by Mr. Ernest Williams, husband of the woman who claims that she has been wronged, and Equire C. H. Harris put the document into the hands of the police, who shortly thereafter had their man detained at the local police station. The alleged crime occurred between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternon, and it was while the woman was picking grapes in close proximity to the Nashville railroad, and about four or five hundred yards above the plant of the Tar River Lumber Company, when she was approached by Mr. Watson who, after directing a few remarks at her, made an improper proposal, and when she started to leave him he seized hold of her. The woman screamed several times and fought desperately, while a nine-year-old girl who had accompanied her, ran from the scene, and it is thought that this caused the man to loose his hold, for fear that the litle girl had gone for help. The prisoner claims that the statement is untrue and that there is was no improper proposal, and that the other statement regarding his seizing hold of her is false. He has employed counsel, who appeared for him this morning.

—Rocky Mount, Aug. 27.—It is thought that the hold out of the car builders is a matter of history, as this morning fifty-eight of the men who, two weeks ago today, left their work on account of an alleged grievance, applied to their foreman for work and they were put back on their tasks. There was a total of one hundred and forty who left the work and the number returned are not half of what are out, though it is expected that a larger part will be at work by the first of the coming week, while some of them have secured positions in other lines of endeavor. At the time for reporting to work this morning there were fifty-three men who asked for their former positions and the number was added to by five others later on during the morning. As to whether or not the men will receive pay for that work, which caued them to leave, is not known, but the officials have consented to hear their grievance through a committee if they wih to make a complaint.

DONALDSON MILITARY SCHOOL.

Prof. McFall Talks of the Institution And Its Prospects.

Professor McFall, principal of the Donaldson Military School, arrived in the city this morning, after a pleasant vacation in Charleston, Flat Rock and other places. He expects to remain in the city from now on to get matters in readiness for the opening of the school on September 16th.

In speaking this morning of the institution and its prospects, Professor McFall said: "A very gratifying interest has been manifested in the school by its friends during the Summer, and we anticipate a most successful term. Our boarding department will be quite larger and we have assurances of as many day pupils as we can accommodate. The military department will be rendered more efficient with an increased attendance, and Major Rike will return to resume the position of commandant. Under the direction of a trained athlete, our athletics will be a decided improvement on last year when a beginning was made. Regular schedules will be arranged for our team and we look forward to a successful season."

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interefered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Robert R Bellamy.

At The Theatre.

The formal opening of Wilmington's theatrical season takes place Saturday night of this week ,and it is going to be of much more importance this time than heretofore as it will mark the opening of what will be known as the New Academy of Music. The finishing touches on the decorations are now being placed and the new opera chairs for the parquet will arrive early this week. So it is confidently expected that everything will be in fine trim for a brilliant opening. And such an opening it will be, as theatregoers will really be astonished at the handsome new interior, entirely remodeled and re-built, that will be presented. The management claims that there will not be a prettier theatre in North Carolina, and it will be modernly equipped in every way.

The opening attraction will also be a brilliant one, being Eugene Walter's great success, "The Wolf," which scored a grander triumph on Broadway than did even his other two big successes, "The Easiest Way," and "Paid in Full." The original company will be seen in the production here and which production will be a magnificent scenic one. It will be a notable occasion and, no doubt, a large sized audience will be present.

Mr. Walter, the author of "The Wolf," is one of the country's greatest dramatists, and it is interesting to note how he came to write the big success that will be seen in Wilmington Saturday night. In a recent interview Mr. Walter said:

"It's the fashion nowadays to talk about 'plays with a purpose.' I might join the big majority by declaring that 'The Wolf' was written for a purpose. As a matter of fact, it was, but not in the same sense of the phrase which the author intellectually wishes to convey 'The Wolf' was written, and written in six days. To prove that I could do a play antipodal in theme and treatment to my first big success, 'Paid in Full.' When I began the play, I was full of the life of the wilderness, from which I had just returned, and I tried to show the simple poetry of the big, silent vastness, in direct contrast to the pretty New York flat life depicted in 'Paid in Full'.

"The material for 'The Wolf' was obtained during a gold-seeking expedition to Alaska, undertaken by a friend and myself. With dog teams we explored the forests of Canada in midwinter, reaching Fort Reliance overland after a tempestuous journey. The quest for precious metal was fruitless, but I came back with its equivalent—all the material I needed for my play of the Canadian Northwest. It is hardly true to say that 'The Wolf' was written in six days. That is all the time I spent in the actual writing, but I worked the play out thoroughly in my mind before dictating the first line. The idea had been developing from the moment I first realized the wonderful natural poetry of the Canadian woods. I thought it out again and again. Finally, when I had it all in my mind in an orderly manner, when I knew exactly what I wanted to say, even to the shortest word of dialogue, I dictated it. I dictate all my work, so in a sense I don't write any play. But not until I have the whole play fully in mind, not until I see mentally each character going through his scenes and business as clearly as if I were at a real performance, do I think of putting it on paper. I must feel the speeches my characters are to deliver, must have worked out orally the sense of values and proportion to the last detail before I can begin. Once I have started my dictation, my mind is not easy until I have gone straight ahead and have finished the last line in the play. Themes for American plays are plentiful enough and big enough. They are just coming into their own. We don't need European art for our dramas. We want none of their 'My Lords,' or 'My Ladies' here, we have progressed beyond that. We are just plain Joe or Jim or Bill. We are a big, powerful people with work to do. We are proud of our work and anxious to do it. That is what it is to be an American."

STATE THAT DISAPPEARED

Franklin Was Its Name and After a Tumultuous Career it Lost Itself in Tennessee.

(A. Clifton Masengill in Scrap Book.)

There was once a State in the American Union which today has no star upon the Nation's flag. Its name is not found in our geographies, nor is it learned in the schools. This State was once the State of Franklin, and its history is very interesting, even though it is the history of a forlorn hope.

When the American Colonies became free in 1783 they had many serious problems to face. Among these problems was that of the debt which each State had incurred during the Revolution. They were all plunged in penury. The Continental Congress had mortgaged the resources of the general treasury so as to protect the loans which had been made by private citizens. How were these loans to be repaid? Many devices were suggested. One took form in a recommendation that all the States which owned public lands should cede them to the national government for the sole purpose of liquidating the common debt.

Of these States, North Carolina held an immense tract of public land, extending from the Alleghany Mountains westward to the Mississippi river. Acting upon a patriotic impulse, the Assembly of North Carolina passed an act in June, 1784, ceding this western territory, partly inhabited, to the United States Congress. Only one condition was attached to the cession, and that was that the grant should be accepted within two years.

When this news reached the people on the frontier it caused immense excitement. They feared that Congress might not accept their territory within the period named, and that during the interval the frontier would become a sort of No-Man's Land, having protection neither from the national government nor from North Carolina.

There were no officers of the law within this territory. The militia had been disbanded. Border ruffians did almost what they pleased; while the Indians took up an attitude that was most threatening.

Disowned by one government and yet not accepted by another, embarrassed by internal disturbances and harassed by a savage enemy, it seemed clear to the settlers that they must take measures to protect themselves. To this end, a convenion was held at the town of Jonesboro.

It was composed of delegates elected by the several counties, with full power to act as they thought best. The presiding officer was Colonel John Sevier. After a long debate, the convention declared that the counties represented in it were independent of North Carolina, and that they should establish a new State. The convention adjourned, after resolving to meet again in order to adopt a constitution for the embryonic commonwealth.

Meanwhile, the Cession Act was repealed by the Assembly of North Carolina, and the western counties were formed into a district known as the Washington District. Judges and other officials were appointed, while the militia was reorganized and placed under command of Colonel John Sevier, who had presided at the convention.

The people of the new district were discontented. They had almost reached the position of independent statehood, and yet conditions had been changed. The result was that they elected a new convention, over which Sevier again presided.

A constitution was submitted, although final action on it was deferred until the new State should have chosen an Assembly. Sevier, however, was elected Governor, courts were established in each of the counties, and taxes were levied to support the new government.

As actual money was seldom seen, a list of articles of commerce which would be accepted in payment of taxes, was adopted. It is an amusing catalogue, including tow, beeswax and peach brandy, which last was to be taken at the rate of two shillings per gallon. This system of finance was not a new one, since it had prevailed in all of the American Colonies at one time or another.

Thus, in Virginia and Maryland a pound of tobacco was the monetary unit; while in Massachusetts, musketballs were accepted at the rate of one farthing each, up to the number of twelve. It is recorded that in the town of Hilham, in the year 1680, the unit of value was a pail of milk.

In this new State the Assembly set about establishing a system of education, and it was provided that a central seat of learning should be founded under the name of Martin Academy. The first president was a graduate of Princeton. For some years, however, no other schools were built, since serious trouble was impending for the would-be commonwealth.

General William Cocke was made commissioner to seek recognition from the Federal Congress. Recognition, however, was refused him, and his mission was a failure.

Notice was served upon the Governor of North Carolina, informing him that the new State was no longer under his jurisdiction. He retorted by a proclamation which denied the legality of the Jonesboro convention. Nevertheless, the majority of the people supported the new government, and its laws were effectually enforced.

Settlers came pouring in; treaties were made with the Indian tribes; the town of Greenville was made the State capital in 1785; and, at last, a constitution was formally adopted.

This constitution was a curiosity, and differed greatly from those of the other States. It created a Legislature of only one House, and it forbade any clergyman, physician or lawyer to be a member.

Another section required that all laws should be printed with explanations and circulated among the people before they became valid. Finally, there was created a sort of Cabinet, consisting of six members, one from each of the divisions into which the State had been mapped out.

Then came the question of a name for the commonwealth. Many favored calling it Frankland ("Freeland") but the majority settled upon Franklin, in honor of Benjamin Franklin, who took a friendly interest in the establishment of this government.

But the State of Franklin was not destined to a long life. North Carolina declared the western counties to be in a state of insurrection. There were divisions among the people of Franklin itself. Two factions gradually arose, one headed by Sevier, who upheld the independence of the State, and the other by Colonel John Tipton, who tried to re-establish the authority of North Carolina. The government did not then interfere.

For a long time there existed a sort of feudal war between these two opposing parties. Each would raid the court houses of the other, destroying documents, releasing prisoners, and engaging in much rough-and-tumble fighting. In 1787, this conflict seemed to threaten all the terrors of a civil war.

There was much argument on one side and the other. Governor Sevier conceived a treaty of alliance with Georgia. This actually was carried out, though it lasted for a short time only. Meanwhile, Sevier had written to Dr. Franklin asking for his support.

That astute person held aloof, as the following letter, with all its diplomatic phrases amply shows:

Philadelphia, June 30, 1787.

Sir:—I am sensible of the honor your Excellency and your Council have done me. But, being in Europe when your State was formed, I am too little acquainted with the circumstances to be able to offer you anything just now, that may be of importance. * * * I conclude with repeating my wish that you may amicably settle your difference with North Carolina. The inconvenience to your people attending so remote a seat of government, and the difficulty to that government in ruling well so remote a people, would, I think, be a powerful inducement to it to accede to any fair and reasonable proposition it may receive from you, if the Cession Act had now passed.

By the end of 1787 the State of Franklin began to go to pieces. The last session of its Assembly was held in the old log capitol at Greenville. The trouble was that the six divisions of the State refused to elect representatives to the Council; and finally, when Governor Sevier's term had expired, no one seemed to care to take up the responsibility of the office.

North Carolina showed unexpected energy. Its sheriffs made arrests. Its militia marched into the seceding territory. Finally, the Federal Congress would have nothing to do with the State of Franklin.

Sevier himself was apprehended and charged with high treason. He was brought before a court at Morgantown for trial. Though his followers no longer supported his cause, they were unwilling that he should be punished, and so they gathered in great numbers in the court room. At the door they placed a spirited horse, bridled and saddled.

Sevier's quick eye perceived the animal, and he noticed that he was himself surrounded by friends. Then, during a lull in the proceedings, some confusion arose. Sevier dashed through the crowd, leaped upon the horse, and galloped off in safety. Another attempt was made to recapture him, but before long he returned home, unmolested. Later, he became a member of the North Carolina Senate, and he was appointed a brigadier general in the United States army.

The State of Franklin had been extinguished, but it arose in another form. In 1790, the counties which had composed it were formed into a Territory, and in 1796 this was admitted to Statehood under the name of Tennessee. It was her name, not her spirit, that died.

Of this State John Sevier was elected the first Governor (from 1796 to 1801) and again he held the same office (from 1803 to 1809). Thus, though Franklin was extinguished as a State, and though, as such, it is scarcely known, it really lives in that commonwealth which has given to the United States two of its most pugnacious Presidents—Andrew Jackson and Andrew Johnson.

THIN FOLKS MADE PLUMP.

Samose Ideal Flesh Builder Says Druggist.

Thin people are simply suffering from want of nourishment!

If you are thin, it is because the food you eat is not assimilated and passes through the system without building up the flesh and tissues as it should.

You can readily get plump and rosy by using Samose, a tissue forming food, which when taken with the meals, immediately becomes a flesh building and life-giving element in the blood.

Use Samose for a few days and increase of life, vigor and weight is felt and you will notice yourself getting plump and rosy.

Samose builds up the system, puts flesh on the bones, brings back the glow of health to the pallid cheek and removes the tired and languid feeling which is the result of exhaustion and low vitality.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., introducing Samose to their customers and recommends it highly. They give the best proof of their belief that Samose will do all that is claimed for it by offering to refund the money if it fails to increase the weight and restore good health.

No matter how long you have suffered, Foley's Kidney Remedy will help you. Mrs. S. L. Bowen, of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so that at times I could not get out of bed, and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." It will cure you. Robert R. Bellamy.

TRIP IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Visitor Compliments Beach and Describes Interesting Bolton Trip.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Denmark, S. C., Aug. 23.—The writer has just returned from a very pleasant trip from up in North Carolina, where he visited several places of interest, such as Wilmington, Wrightsville Beach and others. Wrightsville Beach is certainly a beautiful place; in fact, it is one of our most beautiful beaches; the writer advises all people in search of a delightful Summer resort to go there and enjoy their Summer vacation. The writer also visited Bolton. Bolton is a mill town, saw milling is the industry of the people. They have a number of large mills there; in fact, the largest mills in the South. The officials of the mills were exceedingly nice to us; they took us through the various plants explaining thoroughly to us the different parts of the machinery, which was muchly enjoyed, and greatly appreciated. After coming out of the mill Mr. A. C. Holton, one of their prominent men, came to us and said that since all had expressed themselves as having had such a pleasant time, he would give us a trip over the works. The forest of that section of North Carolina is a net work of tramroads. He gave us a special train and its crew to go out. They took us to Makatoka, N. C., where they also have a number of mills. On our way to Makatoka we passed through Green Swamp, which is 16 miles wide. This swamp is quite an historical place. We were told by good authorities that four years ago it was absolutely impossible for anyone to go through it, the forest was so dense. We were also told there were over 400 negroes cutting in the swamp. They fell the timber and it is hauled to the mills. There it is cut into lumber and boards, then shipped to the various lumber markets, up North, Wilmington, N. C., being their shipping point. Green Swamp was at one time known as the wilderness of North Carolina, though if they continue working as successfully as they are now five years hence they will have the whole swamp under cultivation. The lands are very fertile and doubtless they would reap an abundant harvest.

Miss Agnes Pate, a charming lady from South Carolina, was in our party. She expressed herself as having enjoyed the day immensely. Miss Pate is very jolly and she added greatly to the pleasure of the ohters. Six thirty o'clock we left the forest for Bolton and were all muchly delighted with the pleasures of the day, feeling deeply indebted to the people of the town for their kindness, and most especially to the officials of the various lumber plants. From Bolton our party separated for their respective homes, some for Wilmington, some for other points in North Carolina and others for their homes in South Carolina, with a great desire to visit North Carolina again in the near future.

FOOTBALL RULES.

Some Few Changes in Winter Sport For Coming Season.

The football rules this season will be very much the same as in vogue last season. But few changes have been made as the rules last season proved very satisfactory and the rule makers wisely let well enough alone except in few instances. The forward pass, a much discussed play, will be about the same as during the past season. The new rules explain more clearly the players eligible to participate in the play. A man must be clearly one yard back of the natural zone, or at the end of the scrimmage zone before he will be permitted to participate in the play. Many football authorities argued that the ball should not be tossed directly over the line of scrimmage and the new rules end this discussion. There will probably be much discussion regarding the change as to the value of a goal from the field. This season a goal from the field will count but three points instead of four as formerly. Instead of being mandatory for a defending side, after a touchback, to punt out from the 25-yard line, it will this season be optional with the defenders of the goal to start either with a scrimmage or a kick. The other changes are of minor importance.

CONSERVATION OF FORESTS.

Interest Taken in Matter by Practical Lumbermen Everywhere.

Washington, Aug. 28.—The interest being taken by practical lumbermen in the conservation of the forests was illustrated at the semi-annual meeting of the Yellow Pine Manufacturers' Association, which was recently held in Chicago. The report of the committee on the conservation of the yellow pine forests received much attention and was adopted unanimously.

Among the chief recommendations made by the committee in its report was for the cutting by lumbermen of their timber by two operations with interval of from fifteen to twenty years, the ripe timber being removed during the first cutting and to leave from 2,500 to 3,000 feet of standing timber on each acre. It was shown by such a method of lumbering that a decided advantage would accrue to the lumbermen through the increased growth and consequent gain in timber which would be had between the first and second cuttings.

The Association also adopted the recommendation of the committee providing for the appointment of a committee with power to act and to expend funds to co-operate with the Forest Service on matters of education, forest fires, and taxation.

To Prevent Bright's Disease.

Brights Disease—Consumption of the Kidneys, is just as fatal as consumption of the lungs, and as it is liable to attack any one when their Kidneys are in a disordered condition. Every one should watch their Kidneys and keep them healthy. One way to do this is to keep the stomach and liver healthy. If either of these organs are unhealthy the Kidneys soon become affected. Keep your stomach healthy by using Rydale's Liver Tablets and thus prevent Bright's Disease. Robert R. Bellamy.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment can do is soothe the pains temporarily; while potash and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fluid therefore continually grows more acrid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acrid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

The Flag Dance on Thursday night, the last of the season's special dances, was the occasion for another large gathering at Lumina. The verandas and ball room of the pavilion were crowded and hundreds of persons participated in the "Grand March," when attractive souvenirs in the nature of flags and bunting were distributed to the guests. Another entertainment occurred at Lumina on Friday night, which was well patronized and which received the heartiest appreciation of all those present. The affair was a "Southern entertainment," under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, the services of Miss Louise A. Williams, of Georgia, having been engaged for the occasion. Miss Williams recited most inteerstingly, in dialect, several tales of ante-bellum life in the South, while music by the Acme Quarette and one or two local musicians, lent much pleasure to the evening.

The closing of the beach season at Wrightsville during the coming week brings regret to many who have enjoyed the manifold pleasure to be had at that gay resort, but the fact that for some time, the Power Company will continue to operate necessary cars to and from the beach is sufficient assurance that the season is in no wise closed to those who care to continue their pursuit of pleasure at Wrightsville. Lumina will doubtless be the scene of many large crowds before the final Fall weather sets in, and drum fishermen and surf bathers may be seen every afternoon for several weeks, making the most of the few remaining weeks of Summer. The approach of Fall serves but to remind us of the many pleasures to be enjoyed in Wilmington during the social season soon to arrive. With the completion of the Academy of Music and the final arrangements in closing contracts for theatrical engagements here, Wilmington theatre-goers can anticipate a brilliant theatrical season and it is stated that the Academy will be second to none in the State, or perhaps in this section of the South.

"After dinner the guests were joined by 100 others from the cottage colony and from those on the yachts of the New York club, for dancing.

"The first cotillion of the season was danced at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, on Saturday evening last, on the occasion of the dinner and dance they gave. It was the largest affair of the season so far. Elisha Dyer, who leads today better than ever, led the cotillion, and, with Mrs. Jones, started numerous pretty figures. The favors were original and novel and had been especially selected by Mr. Dyer and Mrs. Jones. They consisted of reading glasses, necktie rings, heart-shaped purses, and silver sugar tongs in shapes of hearts."

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Corbett and daughter, Miss Nora Corbett, who have been spending the Summer abroad, accompanied by Mr. Corbett's sister, Miss Maggie Corbett, of New York, have returned to the city and have been most pleasantly received by their many friends. A SOUTH SEA ROMANCE.

The Mutiny Long Ago on the Bounty, a British Man-of-war.

Who has not heard of the mutiny of the Bounty? The romance of it still lingers from one end of the Pacific to the other. The descendants of the mutineers of the British man-of-war and their dusky wives are living and bear English names made famous, or infamous, more than a century ago.

The British man-of-war had gone to Tahiti. The commander, Blythe, was harsh and cruel to his men. The women of Tahiti loved the fair skinned sailors and sought to hide them from Blythe, their oppressor, but they were captured, and the ship sailed away, but only to return. When it returned, in command was Fletcher Christian, midshipman, and a score of mutineers. The brute Blythe and his loyal companions had been set adrift in an open boat. Marvelous to relate, after traversing thousands of miles of open ocean they reached the Australian coast. Here they found a haven of refuge at a British outpost. For twenty years all trace of Fletcher Christian and his companions was lost, although searching expedition after expedition was sent to Tahiti by the British government.

Each of the mutineers save the remorseful Fletcher Christian took unto himself a wife. As it meant death to their husbands to live in Tahiti, they helped the men they loved to man the boat that bore them away to seek some desert island. After sailing for many days in the extreme southern tripical sea the rock of Pitcairn arose before them.

Twenty years later a British merchantman sighted by chance the lone rock in the southern Pacific and sent a boat ashore. To the astonishment of the crew, dusky men and women ran down to the beach to welcome them in their own tongue and claimed to be "English." Only one old man among them, Adams, of pure British blood still survived. He was found, Bible in hand, teaching in the little Sunday school which he had built and where he had educated the children of the colony and taught them the tenets of the Christian faith.

When the news reached England a British man-of-war was sent for the last of the mutineers of the Bounty. Aboard was a king's pardon for Adams, so that, after all, he died a British subject, surrounded by his dusky children and grandchildren. The colony was then removed from the faraway southern isle to Tahiti, but homesickness overcame its members, and they returned to the verdant rock.—New Idea Magazine.

WHITEVILLE HAPPENINGS

Social and General Items of the Week Building of New Jail—Graded School Teachers—Amateur Baseball League—Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Aug. 28.—Miss Grace Lumsden entertained at a watermelon party last Monday night in honor of the visiting ladies. Those present were: Misses Ethel Harrelson, Bessie Baldwin, Annie Baldwin, Margarete Croom, of Wilmington; Mabel Anderson, of Nichols, S. C.; Ruth Geddie and Miss Barefoot; Messrs. John Carter, Aubrey Smith, Malcolm Lumsden, Claude Oliver, Willie Harrelson, and Lin and W. G. Burkhead.

Miss Mable Anderson, of Nichols, S. C., who has been spending some time in the city, the guest of Miss Ruby Thompson, left Wednesday for Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach.

Mrs. E. B. Davis entertained at a lawn party Thursday night in honor of Miss Jennie Boney, of Warsaw. Delicious ice cream and cake and numerous fruits were served to the guests who were: Misses Mollie Bell Hollowell, Mamie Smith, Ethel Harrelson, Kate Oliver, Annie Waters, of Goldsboro, Ruth, Grace and Bessie Geddie, and Margaret and Kathaleen Baldwin; Messrs. Martin Schulken, Aubrey Smith, Arthur Baldwin, Mr. Smith, of Richmond; Mr. Hailey, of Baltimore; Claude Oliver, Willie Harrelson, W. G. Burkhead, and Mr. Otto Millican, of Wilmington.

The Vineland Brass Band gave a concert at the Columbus Hotel Friday night, which was highly entertaining.——Mr. Ben. A. Oliver has accepted the position as Assistant Postmaster.

There are now 25 prisoners in jail awaiting trial at the September term of court, a good many of whom will probably be turned over to Superintendent Grainger to assist in the road-building of Columbus county, which, by the way, is progressing very nicely. With this number of prisoners in jail, it conclusively proves the need of a new jail, on which work has been commenced, and the contractors state will be ready for occupancy by the first of December.

Many of the teachers elected by the board of trustees of the Whiteville High School to teach for the ensuing school year have already arrived, and others are expected on every train. School opens Monday, and the enrollment thus far for out-of-town pupils has passed fifty.

Messrs. R. H. Powell and R. J. Powell of the firm of Powell & Powell, have returned from the Northern markets, where they have been to purchase the Fall and Winter line.

Miss Leila Memory left Tuesday to enter upon her duties as music teacher at Buie's Creek Academy. Miss Memory is a talented musician, a graduate of Meredith College, and the board of trustees of this popular institution are fortunate in securing her services.

With the games played at Fort Caswell Friday and Saturday last, out of which Whiteville met defeat at the hands of the Soldiers twice, and administered defeat once, closes the season for the Whiteville basball club. There is much talk of a league for the amateur teams in this section next year, so all the fans pull together and let's have baseball right. We have the material, why not develop it?

Messrs. Robert and Walter Powell leave next week to enter the A. & M. College and University, respectively.

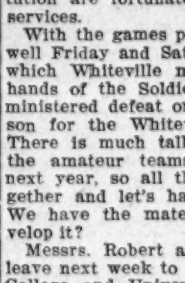
AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — MRS. EMMA IMSE, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.



The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

NEW TUG BOAT IN RIVER.

Serviceable New Vessel Owned by Newton & Williams Lumber Co.

The new tug "Hazel" which was recently built by the Newton & Williamson Lumber Company, the new concern, which is now operating a mill on the Northeast river, near the Almont Fertilizer Works, will be placed on the river this week to be used for freighting and towing for the company. She is a serviceable steam screw tug and license for the new boat was secured yesterday through the Custom House. It was built by ship carpenters at the local port and will be one of the best equipped vessels of its kind on the river. The "Hazel" has a displacement of 38 tons. The new boat compares in size with the steamer Navassa and will be used exclusively in the business of this enterprising lumber firm.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY.

Issued to Subscribers and Shows Growth of the Bell Service.

The new directory of the Southern Bell Telephone Company has been delivered to subscribers in Wilmington by Manager R. L. Boyd. The new directory is attractive in appearance and contains all the changes and corrections in listings that have been made since the last directory was printed.

The number of new names appearing in the list would indicate that there are constant additions in the number of subscribers in Wilmington and vicinity and the telephone development is continuous.

Mr. Prince Rapidly Recovering.

The latest advices from the bedside of Mr. Edmond Prince, Jr., who was seriously stabbed by a negro in Louisville, Ky., last Sunday morning, are to the effect that the young man is recovering very rapidly and it is hoped that he will be able to leave the hospital within a few days. Mr. H. C. Prince, father of the young man, who has been with his son since the unfortunate affair, is expected to return to Wilmington today. Some of the negroes mixed up in the affair have been arrested and will be tried as soon as Mr. Prince is able to be out.

ANNUAL Y. M. C. A. DINNER.

To Be Given by Membership Committee at Tarrymoore Hotel.

The annual dinner to members of the Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the Membership Committee of the Association, at Tarrymoore Hotel, on Sept. 2nd, has been arranged this year with an interesting and enjoyable programme and besides marking the beginning of the Fall work will be a feature occasion.

This will be the second annual dinner, which last year proved such an interesting and inspiring gathering at the Tarrymoore, and the committee again extends a cordial welcome to all members of the Association to attend. The Tidewater Power Company has promised three cars to convey the members to Wrightsville and the committee has made the request that the members gather at the junction at 7:45 o'clock on that date.

An elaborate course dinner will be served and Dr. Joseph Akerman, president of the Association, will preside as toastmaster. The dinner will be in progress from 8 until 10 o'clock.

The chairmen of the various governing committees of the Association are assisting the Membership Committee in arranging for the dinner, and during the evening each will respond to a toast as follows: Dr. Joseph Akerman, president, toastmsater; Mr. J. A. McGeachy, chairman executive committee; Mr. L. B. Rogers, chairman finance committee; Mr. K. W. Price, chairman religious committee; Mr. J. T. King, chairman social committee; Mr. H. W. Malloy, chairman building committee; Mr. H. G Fennell, chairman auditing committee; Dr J. W. Stanley, chairman physical committee. Mr. W. W. Koch, chairman of the Membership Committee, has the dinner in charge, and will also respond to a toast.

COMING REUNION AT UTICA.

Great Interest is Being Taken in Gathering—Rev. Mr. Smith Arranging.

Rev. J. A. Smith sat up until nearly Friday midnight in replying to letters from the North and South in regard to the coming reunion at Utica and his comrades from New York City, Clinton and Utica have written regular letters in regard to the meeting. A letter from Mr. Seely, of Clinton, N. Y., the gallant soldier of the 117th New York regiment, who captured him says, in referring to the coming reunion:

"I think that you will agree with me that the appointment of Thomas K. Proctor, as chairman of the committee on entertainment of the Southern Confederacy is a guarantee of its success. It was a fine piece of diplomacy at your meeting in Washington last June when you made Thomas Wheeler, Mayor of Utica, and Vice President Sherman, honorary members of the Fort Fisher Association, as they are both a power in political circles and if they take the matter of your park to heart, I am sure that something will be accomplished."

TOOK THE LAST ONE

gust 28th and going from fifth place to first since August 17th. The Highlanders got a poor start but twice made the dangerous experiment of changing managers in mid-season, finally secured a collection of seasoned players that could stand a gruelling race and in the latter part of the season outclassed the other teams of the League. The Fayetteville fans have seen their team lose but five games here since June 29th. The following telegrams were sent to Wilson tonight and the following answer received:

"To clearly decide the pennant winners of the Eastern Carolina League I hereby instruct the treasurer of the league to hold $250 of my forfeit money, and will play your present team, if you make the same deposit, a series of six games next week and unless the Highlanders win four games will relinquish right to pennant and money, no reply considered after 7 o'clock tonight. G. H. NAPIER,
Owner Fayetteville Baseball Club.
Wilson, N. C., Aug. 28, 1909.
G. H. Napier, Fayetteville, N. C.

Four of our men leave tonight to accept positions Sept. first. Impossible to play present team on same grounds. We have already refused to play winners in Carolina Association.
J. OETTINGER, President.

Hallman pitched a remarkable game in the first performance today allowing nine hits, but shutting out his opponents. Stoehr, after yielding eight hits and three runs in three innings settled down and the locals went out in one, two, three order thereafter. In the second game Barry was hit and timely, the locals making six runs in one inning. The second game was featured by McKernan's, Heidt's and Dobson's fast fielding. Heidt's catch of a foul after leaping over a portion of the bleacher crowd, was one of the greatest ever seen here. Score:

Fayetteville ....120 000 00x—3 8 0

Stoehr and Fulton; Hallman and Galvin; umpires Otis and O'Halloran.

Second game:

Goldsboro .....000 000 000—0 4 4
Fayetteville ....100 006 00x—7 8 0

Barry, Stubbe and Francis; Luyster and Galvin and Beebe; umpires O'Halloran and Otis; attendance 1,200.

Rocky Mount Lost Last.

Rocky Mount, N. C., Aug. 28.—As a finisher to the season the crew was defeated by a score of 6 to 4 this afternoon at the hands of the Tobacconists and this game gave the rag to Wilson. It was hotly contested by both teams who were on their toes at every juncture and it looked as if the locals were going to break away with the contest while Schuman remained in the firing pit and two Railroaders circled the corners and the score was in favor of the locals until the fifth when McGeehan hit the ball over leftfield fence for a home run with two men on bases and this made the score 4 to 2 in favor of the visitors. Score:

Rocky Mount ...100 100 020—4 9 2
Wilson .....010 030 020—6 8 1

Thorpe and Walsh; Schuman, Buckingham and Miller; time 1:50; umpire McLaughlin; attendance 1,400.

Manager R. H. Gwaltney, of the Wilmington team, last night issued the following sworn statement:

"That in a directors' meeting held in Goldsboro the night of Aug. 25th, which was called to order by President T. M. Washington, of Wilson, N. C., Mr. Washington stated to the meeting that in cases of protested games to be brought up that night, that he himself would not take the responsibility of deciding these cases and that they must be decided by the directors assembled. Each team was represented. After several hours of heated discussion and about the hour of 6 A. M. I made a motion that the meeting adjourn after voting on the following resolution:

"'That owing to the lateness of the hour and the season being almost at a close, that the percentage column be left as it stood, the schedule be played out and let the pennant fall where it may.'

"President Washington put this motion before the house and called for a vote. The following voted for the resolution: Mason, for Rocky Mount; Cotton, for Fayetteville; Godwin, for Raleigh, and Gwaltney, for Wilmington, Wilson and Goldsboro voting in the negative. According to the constitution, the resolution won. The Wilmington team, in regard to the Luyster games, which Mr. Washington threw out two days after this meeting was held and the above resolution adopted, will not be claimed by Wilmington, as we will stand by the vote of the directors. This being the case, Wilson having forfeited one of her five games to Rocky Mount today, which she naturally does as according to vote of the directors, no changes should be made in the percentage column, makes a triple tie between Wilmington, Fayetteville and Wilson."

Affidavit From Fayetteville.

Fayetteville, N. C., Aug. 28.—North Carolina, Cumberland county. F. H. Cotton, being duly sworn deposes and says: That he is a director of the Eastern Carolina League, representing the Fayetteville Baseball Club; that as such director he was in attendance throughout the entire meeting of the Board of Directors of said League at Goldsboro on Tuesday night, Aug. 24th, and in the outset of said meeting the president, Mr. T. M. Washington, of Wilson, stated that owing to a full attendance of the Board of Directors he refused to assume responsibility for the settlement of the questions to be brought before the meeting, and that all questions should be decided by a directorate vote, and this procedure governed the meeting; that the protested Luyster games and Rocky Mount's alleged laying down were acted upon in a resolution substantially as follows: Resolved, That no change be made in the percentage column for any protested or forfeited games ,and that the remaining scheduled games be played on their merits, that said resolution carried by a vote of four to two, Messrs. Gwaltney, King, Mason and affiant voting therefor, and Messrs. Godwin, of Raleigh, and Eagles, of Wilson, voting in the negative; that thereupon Eagles stated, he would withdraw the Wilson team from the League, play no more games ad forfeit the $500; that after much controversy a motion prevailed to reopen the former question, the vote upon which resulted in a tie, Wilson, Raleigh and Goldsboro representatives voting to reopen, said tie vote being broken by President Washington, and the said question was reopened, over the protests of the other directors; that the second vote on said resolution resulted in another ie, the directors who voted to reopen again voted together against the resolution and President Washington cast his vote with them again; that before he transaction of the other business hereinafter mentioned, the League's Secretary, Mr. R. T. Gowan, of Raleigh, without leave withdrew from the meeting, carrying away his official records; that after further considerable discussion, the president recognized Mr. Gwaltney who offered for the third time substantially the same resolution above recited, namely that no change be made in the percentage column, which motion was seconded by Mr. Mason and carried, Messrs. Godwin, Mason, Gwaltney and affiant voting in favor of passage of same and that in the absence of the secretary, as above stated, Mr. Hunter, treasurer of the Raleigh Club, recorded said vote, after which the meeting immediately adjourned.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 28th day of August, A. D., 1909.
R. H. DYE, Notary Public.
Commission expires March 23, 1911.
F. H. COTTON.

L'ENVOI

Query: Who's got the pennant?

In all sincerity, "for this relief, much thanks."

The Raleigh Red Birds debated a great deal better than they played ball yesterday.

Speaking of Wilson, we must confess after that game Crozier can give Earl Holt pointers on kicking.

The league directors had better have another posterity meeting now and decide about awarding the rag.

Thought that West Indian disturbance had all passed away, but there sure was a stormy session at the ball lot yesterday—and that's no prevarication.

As fast as Raleigh uncanned one kick, they opened another, and kept on kicking until a peg-legged man in the grandstand, feeling he was discriminated against, left in disgust.

We hope Wilmington will not be represented in the Eastern Carolina league next season, but will tie up with a new Carolina League, or go into the reorganized South Atlantic that is doped of.

For simon-pure turbulence, yesterday's affair had the Bay of Biscay looking like a peaceful puddle; the present Congress during a filibuster resembling a missionary meeting, and the Autumnal Equinox whining like an evening zephyr.

The patrons of baseball pay for, and expect to see games played in the neighborhood of mother earth, and decided there and then; and not have them forfeited away right and left, and a championship awarded on games that have never been won, and some not even played.

The dilatory action of the League secretary in sending out the information of the forfeited games decided by the Directors at the Tuesday meeting (if such action was decided on at that meeting) threw Fayetteville out of the running right at the last moment after their game fight for the pennant.

Here we cease slinging slanguage after the close of the most turbulent campaign of the Eastern Carolina League (and it couldn't have been worse if the league had existed a dozen or more years.) Hard things have been passed around on all sides, all sorts of allegations made, and dissatisfaction has run riot the whole season, and it is to be prayed before next year that the league be handled in a more businesslike manner and in a way that can be understood by all without subject to criticism.

VALE.

Magnificent Showings
—OF—
Fall Silks
Enchantingly Pretty Weaves, Radiant With Autumnal Colorings

Beautiful as the mountain side when the Autumn sun shines on the trees and grasses of dull brown, green and gold, are the new silks for the coming season.

Rich messalines, taffetas and rough effects and every weave which Fashion has declared worth while is here at a tempting price. Silks which are correct in every detail.

There is a lot of humbuggery about silks. Many a beautiful sheen conceals a coating of lead, to give weight, which causes the fabric to cut with very little wear.

When you buy our silks you buy absolutely the best quality to be had. That is why among women of this vicinity our silks have such a recognized standard.

Choose the silks for the new dress from among these enticing values.

Extra Interest will Center in these $1.25 Messaline Silks, this week at $1.00.

Full yard wide in all the new shades. Exceptionally good value to start the season.

Trimmings to match are also here.

These consist of braids and Persian net bands. You'll like the quality.

Fruit Jars all sizes.

BUILDING PERMITS.

A Large Number Issued by Building Inspector During Month.

There have been a large number of building permits issued from the office of Building Inspector H. E. Bonitz during the present month, which means that many new homes are in course of construction or are going to be eercted in Wilmington. Almost every day one or more permits are issued and some are for handsome residences. The contractors and carpenters have been very busy during the past few months and the indications are that considerable building will be the order for at least several months.

Permits issued yesterday and Friday: Geo. O. Gaylord, two-story, six-room house on Tenth street, near oil mill; estimated cost, $800; Dave Holton, contractor. Charles Simons, one-story, five-room house on corner Fourteenth and King streets; estimated cost, $650; G. H. Greene, contractor. Geo. O. Gaylord, one-story, three-room house on corner Tenth and Moore streets; estimated cost, $350; Dave Holton, contractor. E. B. Pleasants, two-story, ten-room house, on Sixth street, between Princess and Chestnut streets; estimated cost $4,500; W. P. Hamilton, contractor. A number of other permits were issued for small houses and repairing of buildings.

Washington's Plague Spots

lie in the low, marshy bottoms of the Potomac, the breeding ground of malaria germs. These germs cause chills, fever and ague, billiousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility and bring suffering or death to thousands yearly. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "They are the best all-round tonic and cure for malaria I ever used," writes R. M. James, of Louellen, S. C. They cure Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Blood Troubles and will prevent Typhoid. Try them, 50c. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

Clean Up Sale at Polvogt's.

In today's issue our readers' attention is called to the advertisement of the C. W. Polvogt Company, who advertise a clean-up sale of their Summer goods. The ready-to-wear department offers attractive bargains. Double trading stamps will be given on all goods advertised, to reduce their stock. Their buyers leave for the North during the week and new goods will be coming shortly. **

LOCAL DOTS.

—Charlie Branch, a white youth, convicted in Justice Borneman's court yesterday of a simple assault upon Aaron Gibbs, a colored youth, was let off upon payment of costs.

——Information has been received at police headquarters that Everett Shanadfelt, a soldier, deserted from Fort Caswell August 24th. The officers are asked to arrest him if he is located.

—Patrolman Leon George yesterday morning arested a negro supposed to be Elisha Fisher, badly wanted for an assault upon Mr. Frank W. Sears. He proved to be the wrong negro and was released.

—The schooner Judge Boyce, Capt. Eskridge, cleared yesterday with cargo of 567,000 feet of lumber, which is the largest of the season, from the Hammer Lumber Company, for New York; vessel by C. D. Maffitt.

—The tSar was in error yesterday in stating in connection with the escape from the county farm of Annie Bryant that Maggie Myers, colored, was sent with her to the farm for shoplifting. It was Mary Jones who was sentenced with the Bryant woman.

—Zeak Williams, a colored youth, was the lone deefndant at yesterday's session of the Reocrder's court, charged with throwing rocks on the street. On account of his age the case was dismissed. For two or three days there has been nothing doing in police circles.

—A large excursion party from Tar Heel and White Oak arrived yesterday on the steamer City of Fayetteville and spent yesterday in the city and at the Beach. The boat arrived yesterday shortly before 9 o'clock and cleared last night at 10 o'clock on the return trip.

—The residence of John D. Bellamy, Jr., Esq., 323 South Third street, was entered by thieves Friday night and several rooms of the house were ransacked. Mr. Bellamy, who with his family is spending the Summer at the Sound, stated that he had missed nothing of consequence from the house.

—A game of baseball was played yesterday at Hilton park between the Y. M. C. A. and Wrightsboro, and resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 13 to 7. Schulken and McClelland were the batteries for the Y. M. C. A. and Seitter, Motte and Thompson for Wrightsboro.

—A follower of Isaak Walton caught two fine trout in Greenfield Pond, just south of the city, yesterday afternoon. The fish weighed one and a half pounds each. The catch suggested to the fisherman the splendid opportunities for fishing at Greenfield Pond. Mr. Costin is the genial and accommodating holder of the boats.

—Two deeds weer filed for record yesterday as follows: People's Savings Bank to Garnet D. Hargrave, for $100 and other considerations, lot on south side of Meadow, 150 feet east of Fifteenth street, 30x75 feet in size; D. R. Foster and wife to W. A. Brown, for $10 and other considerations, lot on northwest corner of Second and Marstella streets, 33x165 feet i nsize.

—The mother of Annie Bryant, colored, who escaped from the county farm Wednesday morning, went to McCulloch's jewelry store yesterday for a watch which ad been left there for repairs by her daughter. The police think the watch was stolen and asked Mr. McCulloch to hold it until the matter was investigated. It is an odd-sized lady's gold watch.

—Lillie Smith and Fannie Williams, colored, were tried before Justice Harriss yesterday afternoon on the charge o fvagrancy. They were found not guilty and the prosecution taxed with the costs. The warant was sworn out by Patrolman Frank George before Justice Sykes. The case was removed at the request of the defendants, who were represented by George L. Peschau, Esq.

SOUTHPORT WANTS MR. TAFT

Chamber of Commerce Holds Meeting and Appoints Committee to Extend Invitation to President to Visit That Place.

Southport is anxious that President Taft visit that progressive town upon the occasion of his visit to Wilmington and while he is being entertained on the proposed trip down the Cape Fear river.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Southport Chamber of Commerce was held Friday afternoon for the purpose of naming a committee to extend the President a cordial invitation to land at that place, where he would be received by the citizens of the town and a large portion of Brunswick county's population. In the event the invitation is accepted it is the purpose of the citizens to hold a reception on the Government wharf where the people would be given an opportunity to greet the Nation's Chief Executive. The meeting was presided over by Mr. L. S. Fefel in the absence of the president, Mr. E. B. Stevens. C. Ed. Taylor, Esq., acted as secretary in the place of Mr. J. Berg, who was not present.

The board passed a resolution naming a committee of three, composed of Mayor M. C. Guthrie, R. W. Davis and C. Ed. Taylor, Esqs., to extend the invitation to President Taft to stop at Southport when he goes down the river to visit the forts, November 9th.

The Southport people believe that the invitation will be accepted, as it is only a short distance from the forts to that hustling place and they propose to give the President a rousing welcome.

The members of the various Wilmington committees named several days ago to make arrangements for the entertainment of the President are giving no little consideration to plans and it is probable that several important meetings will be held during the present week.

BIG LUMBER SHIPMENTS.

Over Four Million Feet Shipped by Water in July and August.

Lumber shipments from the various lumber mills at the local port during the months of July and August aggregate over 4,000,000 feet, and is easily larger than for the same period for several years past comparing favorably with two cargoes for the same months of 1908 of less than a million feet.

It is considered at the local port a general revival of the lumber business and as a result shipping has been very lively during the past few weeks. Of the 11 schooners, all lumber laden, which have cleared from Wilmington during the period mentioned, nine of the number have carried their cargoes to northern markets and two to Port-au-Prince. The exact figures, as near correct as could be obtained, place the shipments at 4,506,033 feet.

The lumber mills represented in these shipments and the number of cargoes from each are as follows: Hilton Lumber Company, two; Hammer Lumber Company, four; S. & W. H. Northrop Lumber Company, two; Woodson & Graves Lumber Company, one; Cape Fear Lumber Company, one, and Chadbourn Sash Door & Lumber Company, one.

There are several vessels now in port loading lumber. These large shipments make an excellent showing for the port of Wilmington.

SHARP FIGHT OFF LUMINA.

Interesting Battle Along the Breakers at Wrightsville Beach.

Several gentlemen fortunate enough to be at Lumina shortly after noon on Friday witnessed the rare and interesting spectacle of a fight to the death between several sharks and what appeared to them one or more porpoises that were evidently running ahead of the large school of mullets that appeared off shore the same morning. Some of the sharks were 20 feet or longer and the battle is said to have lasted fully 20 minutes, being sharp and fierce. In the roll of the surf the spectators could not judge as to the winners of the extraordinary contest, but the sharks are said to have cut one another up pretty badly. The gentleman who gives the information is strictly a prohibitionist and has never been employed as a press agent for Lumina.

Will Not Change Academy Entrance.

It has been definitely decided not to change the entrance to the Academy of Music as was proposed some time time ago. The building committee recommended to the Aldermen a change, making the entrance through the City Hall, and this was adopted at a reecnt meeting of the board. Mr. S. A. Schloss, the lessee, who is making the extensive improvements on the building, decided that he preferrd the old entrance, therefore no change will be made, which will be welcome news to a large number of theatregoers of the city who never thought it wise to make the entrance through the City Hall.

Agreement of Separation.

An agreement between Herbert H. Porter and his wife, Mrs. Bessie Raynor Porter, was filed for record in the office of the register of deeds yesterday morning. Mr. Porter agrees to pay his wife $25 a month and she releases and claims that she may have in her husband's property as tenant by dower or otherwise, and he also quits her of any claim he may hold in her estate by courtesy or otherwise.

Residence Burglarized.

Mr. Lott M. Noble has reported to the police that his residence, 420 Walnut street, was entered by a burglar Thursday night and the following articles stolen: Colt's pistol, two pairs of cuff buttons, silver handle whisk broom, suit case, suit of clothes an da number of shirts and $10 in money. The intruder effected an entrance to the house through a window. There is no clue to the identity of the robber.

Expert Cutter at Fuchs'.

Mr. J. W. H. Fuchs, the well known clothier, 123-134 South Front street, announces that an expert cutter from the large tailoring firm of Hamburger Bros. & Co., will be at his store with a full line of Fall and Winter woolens on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week and all his friends and the general public are asked to call and make selections from the beautiful assortment of new fabrics.

Enlarging His Office Force.

Mr. John Carter, an expert stenographer and typewriter of Whiteville, N. C., will arrive Monday to join the office force of Mr. Meares Harriss, on Princess street. Mr. Carter is said to be a gentleman of fine ability in his chosen work and will no doubt prove a valuable assistant to Mr. Harriss in his rapidly growing business.

At the Bijou Tomorrow.

The management announces two splendid pictures as the bill for the Bijou tomorrow. The titles are "Princess Nicotine," or "The Smoke Fairy," and "For Her Sweetheart's Sake." They are said to be among the best pictures that have been shown at the Bijou, which means that those who witness their presentation will be mare than pleased. An entire new series of local baseball pictures, the product of Hodges' studio, will also be offered.

The Mind's Power.

"Zola," said a psychologist, "once wrote in a lady's album that his favorite amusement was writing and his favorite wish a sudden death. Zola died suddenly.

"And it is a strange thing," said the psychologist, "that those who prefer a sudden death usually have their preference gratified. It is one of those things which go to show the mind's mysterious power. Who knows but it is this very desire for death, quick, painless, undreaded, which actually causes that happy kind of death? The mind, you know, has a power that we have only just begun to understand."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Planning Ahead.

"Theater parties," said the prospective bride, "will cost about $200 annually, flowers as much more and bonbons, say, $100. Certainly we can marry on $600 a year."

"And have a snug surplus," suggested her dad, "for such incidentals as grub and clothes and house rent."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Civil Service.

"Say, pop, what's civil service?"

"Eh? It's an act governing the service in the department, the customs, the postal, the government printing"—

"But, dad, what does it mean?"

"Mean? It means where a busy man rushes into a postoffice to buy some stamps—falls in line, waits an hour and twenty minutes before reaching the window—then, after tendering a $100 bill, hears the tallow faced clerk murmur pleasantly:

"'Wholesale stamps at the next window, please!'"—Bohemian Magazine.

Still Possible.

"Uncle, can't I be a pirate when I grow up?"

"Sure you can, sou. What do you want to pirate—books or plays?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Critic.

"What do you think of this picture?"

"Rotten!"

"Why, it was taken from life."

"Pity the artist wasn't."—Cleveland Leader.

The trouble isn't with one slandering tongue so much as with a thousand listening ears.

The feathers of birds are simply modified hairs. Scales of fishes overlie one another, tile fashion, like birds' feathers, and for the same purpose—namely, to shed the water. If a fish's scales were set with their edges toward his nose, his progress through his native element would be impeded.

LOVE'S DOUBTING.

A Phase of Life Through Which Many Married Women Pass.

The only incidents that marred our happiness were sudden and inexplicable "flare ups." Occasionally, to our amazement, a trifle would make us glare at each other like animals and speak bitterly. Five minutes later we would express our regret and shame. Soon I perceived that these quarrels were due to nerves and to the trials of adjustment. One evening we had an argument that was particularly violent and distressing. It ended by Frank's going to bed. I remained in the seat where I had been reading, and for a long time I pretended to myself that I was going on reading. Presently tears fell on my book. Then I said: "How silly all this is! I am making myself suffer, and I am making Frank suffer too. I will go and tell him that I am sorry." So I stole into the bedroom. He was sleeping peacefully.

That little experience, not without humor as I look back on it, made me first realize how differently Frank and I could be affected by the same cause. It marked the beginning of my uneasiness. Soon I stopped reading aloud to Frank; why, I can't remember. Little things disturbed me. At first the thought of them used to be swept away by my delight on seeing Frank in the evening. Then, too, there would come the feeling that those things were accidents and would not occur again. In the second year of our marriage, just after dinner, Frank would read the newspaper till he began to doze. Then he would rouse himself and try to be agreeable. The effort troubled me. There was also the quiet and efficient deciding of little details without reference to my wishes. And here I felt there was danger. Once I said to myself, "Suppose I should tire him," and I grew cold. Then I thought of the moment when I should discover that I was tiring him. Here my sense of humor came to my rescue, and I felt better. I imagine that many women pass through this phase.—American Magazine.

TIME TO LAUGH.

Some Vaudeville Jokelets Which Age Cannot Wither.

Vaudeville is known as the "laugh trust," but not for the reason one might think. It gets the phrase because there are a certain definite number of devices in its category of acts that control the laughs of its audiences. The same old things are always good for a laugh in vaudeville. According to the Bohemian Magazine, a new device, a new bit of "business," a new joke, are all regarded as dangerous by the performers. The following table details some of the times at which a vaudeville audience regularly laughs:

When a comedian walks with a mincing step and speaks in a falsetto voice.

When a German comedian opens his coat and discloses a green waistcoat.

When a comedy acrobat falls down repeatedly.

When a performer asks the orchestra leader if he is a married man.

When a black face comedian says something about chicken.

When a performer starts to rise from a chair and the drummer pulls a resined piece of cord so that the performer thinks his clothes have ripped.

When the drummer suddenly beats the drum during a comedian's song and the latter stops and looks in his direction.

When a tramp comedian turns around and discloses a purple patch or several pearl buttons or a target sewed on the seat of his trousers.

When the funny member of the troupe of instrumentalists interrupts the progress of a melody by sounding a discordant note on his trombone.

When a clown of a team of acrobats poises himself to do a presumably difficult feat and suddenly changes his mind and walks away without doing it.—New York Sun.

The Original Miss Nancy.

To call an affected young man who prides himself on his exquisite neatness a "Miss Nancy" is not as difficult as to account for the appellation. The original "Miss Nancy" was Miss Anna Oldfield, an actress of note in her day. She died in 1730. Her vanity was the talk of the town. It was a good advertisement as well. It is recorded of her that on her deathbed she desired that her remains should lie "in state, dressed in a very fine brussels lace headdress, a holland shift with tucker and double ruffles of the same lace, new kid gloves, etc."

WATERLESS BATHING.

A Good Rub and an Air Bath a Substitute For the Tub.

The conditions and conventions of our civilization demand frequent bathing. It is popularly supposed that this frequent bathing is essential to health.

"This is quite untrue," says the Medical Journal. "We have seen fine and vigorous men among the habitants of Canada who had never taken a full bath in their lives. Were the truth known, many thousands of our fellow citizens probably know nothing of the alleged benefits of the tub, though maintaining excellent average health.

"Such people do not present the fresh and pleasing appearance of the frequent bather, however long lived they may be. Is not, however, much of the benefit attributed to the water in reality due to the complete exposure of the skin to the air?

"The respiratory function of the skin is of high importance and, although water may be dispensed with, closing the pores to air would result in speedy asphyxiation. The historic instance of the boy who impersonated John the Baptist in a mediaeval procession and whose body was covered with gold leaf with rapidly fatal results is proof.

"The ice cold bath is a superstition; it is a pastime for the abnormally vigorous, not desirable for the average civilized man. A bath not too cold is really an agreeable stimulant as well as being a luxury. The feeling of well being after a bath can hardly be obtained in any other way, and the rapid multiplication of tubs in hotels and private residences, soon to approach one to the individual, shows how they are appreciated.

"Unhappy persons, however, whose travels in the provinces or into the desert may temporarily deprive them of sufficient water for bathing may find a substitute that will at least afford a part of their accustomed enjoyment. The body may be energetically rubbed with a brush or coarse Turkish towel and afterward exposed to the air for fifteen minutes or so. The accustomed feeling of vigor will follow and the process will be found by the uninitiated to be astonishingly cleansing."

A STRANGE TRIBE.

The Touaregs, to Whom Timbuktu Owes Its Origin.

A recent explorer, journeying from Tripoli across the great desert of Sahara, gives account of much opposition to his progress offered by the various wandering tribes. Much of the most serious trouble was caused by the Touaregs, a strange band of people, supposed by some to have descended from the crusaders. These dwellers of the desert are distinguished by the wearing of veils, a custom which has caused much discussion. Says Felix Dubois in "Timbuktu the Mysterious:"

As you travel an atmosphere of secrecy hovers over the country, and you remember that these mysterious Touaregs are still momentarily its oppressors and masters.

These people keep their eyes from the excessive glow of the desert by two veils, one rolled round the temples and falling down in front, the other reaching from the nostrils to the edge of the clothing, covering the lower part of the face. Savants seek all manner of farfetched origins to explain this custom. Hygiene is obviously the only motive. This is proved by their own statements and by the sobriquet, "mouths for flies," which they give to all who do not wear the veils.

These veils are never removed, even at mealtimes. They are so much a part of their wearers that any one deprived of such covering is unrecognized by his friends and relatives. If a number of the tribe should be killed in battle, no one could identify them if they had not on their veils.

Theft is the Touareg's natural form of industry. "This word," says a native proverb, "is like water fallen upon sand, never to be found again." The Sudanese term them as "thieves, hyenas and abandoned of God." Yet to this strange tribe Timbuktu owes its origin.

No Perpetual Motion.

Every machine is constructed to transmit motion or force. In every instance the motion of the machine is derived from without, either from muscular action, or the weight of falling water, or a current of air, or the expansive power of steam, or some other natural power. The motion and energy that the machine has gained have been obtained only at the expense of some exterior agent. The quantity of force in existence being fixed, no new stock can be created, and therefore a self moving machine is absurd even in name.

The Force of Habit.

One of the campers had done something peculiarly idiotic, and the dean said, "Dick reminds me of Thomas' colt."

"What about Thomas' colt?" asked Dick cheerfully.

"Why," the dean responded readily, "where I lived in Maine when I was a boy an old man named Thomas raised horses. He once put out to pasture a colt which had been fed from its birth in a box stall and watered at the trough in the yard.

"The pasture lay across a small river, and in the middle of the day the colt swam the stream to go up to the barnyard for a drink of water."

English as Spoken In London.

I must confess in passing that after a lifetime spent upon English I had nearly as much difficulty with that language "as she is spoke" upon the streets of London by the common people as I had with French and German in Paris and Berlin. A Banknote Tragedy.

In the days when to steal or forge a banknote in England was a crime punishable by death the histories of many notes were tragic in the extreme. The circumstances of one memorable case are peculiarly sad. A young man called Howland was accused by his uncle, a merchant in the city, of stealing a fifty pound note from the writing table in his study. Although it was not proved that the note had ever been in his possession or that it had been cashed, the circumstances were considered suspicious enough to justify conviction, and the young man, who was popular and of irreproachable character, was sentenced to death. Some years after his execution the note for which his life was sacrificed was found in a recess in the library chimney, where it is supposed a draft had carried it.—London Tit-Bits.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Goldsboro, Aug. 27.—An entire day's session was taken up in Wayne county Superior Court with the case of Harris Johnson, a white man charged with stealing barbed wire fencing, of the value of three dollars, from his neighbor, Bynum Feutral. After a five hours' deliberation the defendant was found guilty.

—Wadesboro, Aug. 27.—A disastrous fire early this morning was averted by the splendid work of the town fire department. The fire was discovered at 2:10 this afternoon in a building occupied by D. E. Gatewood, a general merchant. The loss on stock is placed at $5,000, insurance $2,600. The loss on the building is $500, no insurance. Eland, photgrapher, was damaged to the extent of $200.

—Dr. Charles Duffy, one of the oldest and ablest physicians and surgeons of North Carolina and a brother to Solicitor Dudolph Duffy, died at his home in New Bern on last Thursday. Dr. Duffy had done about as much charitable practice during his long life as any physician in the State. New Bern was a sad city on the day of his death. He was a Confederate soldier and belonged to the 50th N. C. Regiment.

—Fayetteville Observer: Mr. Jeff Sessoms, of Stedman, Cumberland county, has several acres in cotton which he expects to yield three bales to the acre, if not more. He has used the best quality of fertilizers, with a good quantity of saw dust. The saw dust is about 15 years old, and the government estimates its value at $2.20 a ton. Who would have thought of raising three bales to the acre, and that partly with saw dust, five years ago?

Rocky Mount, Aug. 27.—At the Primitive Baptist Church, at North Rocky Mount, there is being held the annual August meeting today, and there will be services today and tomorrow. It is expected that the meeting will be largely attended and several hundred will hear the preaching tomorrow. A number have been ariving in the city by today's trains to attend the meetings. The services will be conducted by Rev. P. D. Gold, of Wilson, and others.

—Goldsboro, Aug. 27.—J. B. Edwards, who has been in a serious condition during the past week as a result of an attack by a negro, is steadily growing weaker, and physicians have abandoned all hope of his recovery. A clot of blood has formed on the brain. Norman Rhodes, the assailant, is still at large, and it is believed that he is being kept in hiding by frends, although the county officers are making every effort to apprehend him.

—Washington, N. C., Aug. 27.—One of the largest catches of mackerel in thees waters for the past several years was brought to this city yesterday on the schooner Columbia with Captain Kit, Williams as master. There were seventy-five solid boxes of mackerel in the cargo weighing ten thousand pounds. The fish were caught near Cape Hatteras and were supplied to all the local fish dealers and shipped to the Northern markets. There have also been large catches of rock and white perch in Pamlico river by drag netters during the past few days.

—Washington, N. C., Aug. 27.—One of the largest rattlesnakes on record in Beaufort county was killed near Blount's Creek a few days ago by Mr. Jesse R. Lewis. It seems that Mr. Lewis was cuting brush preparatory to building a fence and aroused the rattler in his den, who immediately issued forth to give battle, striking at Mr. Lewis several times before he was finally killed with a club. The snake when stretched out was a little over six feet long and nearly twelve inches in circumference and had nineteen rattles and a button, making him twenty-one years of age.

—Bayboro Sentinel: We understand some unknown person put out poison on last Sunday night, and four dogs were found dead on Monday morning. A few days ago this same thing was done and several pet dogs were killed. Many think the same man is doing the work now. We think it's a dirty act and the party ought to be found out and given the full penalty of the law. When the poison is put out it invariably kills some man's valuable dog and the no good dogs make their escape. The people of this town are very indignant over this rascally and cowardly act and will in the future keep watch for the fellow who is doing this dirty work, as a thief in the dark.

—Winston-Salem, Aug. 27.—Dr. A. J. Christian, a well known colored physician of this city, was before Recorder Griffith today, charged with givng prescriptions for cocaine to Claude Stamps. The recorder continued the judgment in order to look up the law in point and see if there have been any decisions of the Supreme Court on the new law passed in 1909. The law of 1907 made the penalty for the first offense a fine of $50, but the law was amended this year so as to give the court discretion of imposing a fine or imprisonment, or both. The witness, a colored woman, testified that Dr. Christian wrote the cocaine prescription and charged her fifty cents each time.

'Twas A Glorious Victory.

There's rejoicing in Fedora, Tenn. A man's life has been saved, and now Dr. King's New Discovery is the talk of the town for curing C. V. Pepper of deadly lung hemorrhages. "I could not work nor get about," he writes, "and the doctors did me no good, but, after using Dr. King's New Discovery three weeks, I feel like a new man, and can do good work again." For weak, sore or diseased lungs, Coughs and Colds, Hemorrhages, Hay Fever, LaGrippe, Asthma or any Bronchial affection it stands unrivaled. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial Bottle free. Sold and guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

THE WEEK AT LUMBERTON

News and General Notes of the Robeson Metropolis—Personal Items of Interesst to Many Readers—Death of Citizen.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 28.—Miss Cora Biggs and Mr. H. E. Carter were married Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. D. W. Biggs, the bride's father, by Rev. E. M. Hoyle, of the Methodist church, the bride's pastor. Miss Biggs has been the efficient operator at the telephone exchange for several years. Mr. Carter came to Lumberton some two or three years ago to clerk for the firm of White & Gough, and is a gentleman of high character. They left on the evening train for Wrightsvile Beach where they will spend a few days, and then returning to Lumberton will begin housekeeping on Pine street.

Saturday afternoon Jim Ivey was tried before Mayor Pro Tem. M. W. Floyd for being drunk and disorderly and was taxed with the cost, $4.70.

Sunday morning at the foot of the old Caldwell bridge 26 negroes were baptized in eight minutes. Something like 1,000 people witnessed the baptizing.

We have never realized as during the past few days just how far Lumberton is behind in its telephone service. Every other town of any size in this whole section has the long distance service, but in that respect we are cut off from the outside world. Can't something be done?

Henry Davis, a colored man who for some time past has been making Lumberton his home, was shot at Pembroke Thursday morning at 2 o'clock by Policeman W. D. Dixon as the negro was entering Mr. Dixon's dwelling. He raised a window and made his way into the room where Mr. Dixon was sleeping. Davis was shot twice, the first shot not hitting him and the second shot was fired and the ball went through his shoulder. He came to Lumberton after he was shot on a freight train, and when the doctor was attending him, it developed that he was the man who was wanted at Pembroke, and was placed in jail without bond and his case will likely be tried at the September term of the criminal court. He was attended by Dr. H. T. Pope, assisted by Mr. Raymond Reynolds.

When the Mayor's court was called in "extra session" Saturday night, the fact was developed that during the day a visitor had been to town bringing with him a flour barrel of case goods in pints and quarts, which he disposed of out down about the R. & C. trestle. He left town before his business was discovered and, of course, no one knew who he was. There was also some hard cider in town that day.

While at the depot Sunday afternoon to see the train pass, we saw the conductor push two young negroes away so as to let the lady passengers get on the train. We understand this is not the first time such a thing has occurred. The town fathers ought to look after this business, and see that it is not done again.

Mr. Sam Tolar, born and raised in the county, died at his home in Hollellsville township Sunday morning, of old age. Mr. Tolar was 84 years old, married and has 22 children, the youngest of whom is a young attorney of Lumberton.

The old artesian well, situated at the foot of Third street, near the old bridge, has for some reason discontinued flowing. Workmen have been repairing the piping, and it is hoped it will soon start again.

There is a young man in town that has several head of cattle, and last year he saved enough hay off the streets to feed his cattle six months and he says that he is going to save more than that this year.

Mr. W. T. Jenrette, of the firm of Jenrette & Singletary, will leave next Wednesday for Baltimore, this county, where he will teach school, assisted by Misses Sibyle Oliver and Susie Jones.

Twenty-five or thirty Confederate Veterans attended the Veterans' Reunion at Charlotte from in and around Lumberton, Wednesday. Among those from town were Messrs. A. B. Small, Irvin Jenkins, R. M. Norment and Frank Meares.

Mrs. Clarence B. Townsend is erecting a nice dwelling house on Caldwell street. It will be for rent.——Some much needed repairs are being done on the graded school building.——Mrs. Thomas Prevatt, who has been sick for several weeks, seems to be improved today.——Mrs. T. A. Norment left Wednesday morning for Dillon, S. C., where she will spend a week or ten days on a visit to her sister, Mrs. F. M. Lane.——Mr. W. I. Linkhau left Thursday morning for the western horse markets by way of Johnson City, Tenn., to buy stock for his livery business here.——Mr. O. L. Stubbs' who has been spending his vacation at his home in Cheraw, S. C., returned Thursday to resume his duties with the Seaboard here.——Mr. John Barnes, of Wilmington, is here spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barnes. Mr. Barnes says he has just returned from a trip to California, which he liked very much.

Horse and Goat Cannot Stand to be Separated for Long.

The remarkable attacnment between a horse and a goat owned by a Wilmington citizen was told of on the streets yesterday. The horse and goat have had the same owner for the past year or more and when the horse was not being worked one would always see them together, the goat most of the time, when out grazing, being under the horse's body, and at night they were put away in the same stable. A day or two ago it became necessary to separate the two for a night and there are many people who will distinctly remember the date for some time to come, for their rest was seriously disturbed. The goat, which was at the home of the owner, kept up a distressing cry and the horse in another part of the city neighed and pawed. Finally the neighbor in whose stables the horse was for the night telephoned to the owner of the noise his horse was making, stating that it was impossible for any one in the neighborhood to rest. The owner informed his friend that the goat had done equally as bad, so it was decided to carry the goat to the horse. For some time nothing further was heard from the horse or goat, but on toward midnight the owner received another telephone message to the effect that the horse was doing worse than ever and had kicked a portion of the stable away. An investigation revealed the fact that the goat had gotten out and was unable to get back in the stable. After being put together again the residents of the neighborhood experienced no further trouble in getting their rest.

MONROE'S VISIT TO WILMINGTON

Came to Wilmington April 1819—Public Reception—His Career—Toasts at Banquet.

(By Iredell Meares.)

James Monroe was the fifth President of the United States. He was born in Westmoreland County, Va., April 28, 1858, and died in New York, on July 4th, 1831. He abandoned his student life at the College of William and Mary, when the revolutionary war broke out, and entered the military service of the colonies. He attained the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. He was a member of the assembly of Virginia, a delegate to the fourth, fifth and sixth Congress of the Confederation, where notwithstanding his youth, he was active and influential. Retired from Congress, he became a member of the Virginia Convention called, in 1888, to consider the ratification of the proposed constitution of the United States. He opposed the ratification, but finally consented thereto on condition certain amendments were adopted. He was elected to the United States Senate, in December, 1790, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William Grayson, and held the office until May, 1794, when he was sent as envoy to France. He was an anti-Federalist and a determined opponent of Washington's administration. He was recalled as envoy to France in 1796, but, after the election of Mr. Jefferson, his great personal friend, he was returned in 1801 to the French Mission, and through the joint efforts of himself and Robert Livingston, the United States Minister to France, the treaty for the purchase of the Louisiana territory was consummtaed in 1803. It was the remark of Livingston at the time, "We have lived long, but this is the noblest work of our lives," and subsequent events may be appealed to in proof of the truth of the remark. He was afterward accredited to and was prominently identified with important diplomatic negotiations at the Court of St. James. He was twice elected Governor of Virginia, and, under Mr. Madison's administration was Secretary of State from 1811 to 1817, during which time he also acted for two years as Secretary of War. In 1816 he was elected President of the United States, and relected in 1821, thus serving two terms. The principal subjects that engaged his attention as President were the defense of the Atlantic Seaboard, the conduct of the Seminole war, the acquisition of Florida, the Missouri Compromise, and the resistance to foreign interference in American affairs formulated in a declaration that is called the "Monroe Doctrine." This doctrine has been vigorously maintained ever since by the United States, though not conceded definitely by the foreign powers. During his term of office, he made formal visits to the principal cities of the North and South and the end of his administration was marked by the great social event of the national reception of the Marquis de Lafayette who visited this country as the nation's guest.

His Visit to Wilmington.

In the scrap book of Miss Hannah Bolles, of this city, there is a newspaper clipping taken from a local paper published in or about 1873, written by a correspondent and reproducing, with comments, an article from the "Raleigh Minerva," dated April 23, 1819, descriptive of the visit to Wilmington of President Monroe, on April 12, 1819. It will be noticed in the address of the citizens to the President that reference is made to the previous visit of President Washington. The Davis house referred to stood on the present site of Ex-Mayor Springer's residence; otherwise the places alluded to in this article remain unchanged. "The Magistrate of Police," in "ye olden day," was the chief executive of the town; later, by charter the title of the office was changed to that of mayor.

With the considerate permission of Miss Bolles, we here produce the article mentioned containing an account of his visit to Wilmington:

"'Ye OLDEN TIMES.'

"Visit of President Monroe to Wilmington—How His Excellency Was Received—His Response to the Welcome.

"In an old copy of the Raleigh "Minerva," bearing date April 23, we find a letter from Wilmington giving an account of the visit of President Monroe and his suite to Wilmington, April 12, 1819. A gentleman in this city who has read the account and who was then a boy of some thirteen years, has a distinct recollection of the event and of the flutter which it caused in our then little town.

The Presidential cortege was met about twelve miles from town, on the old Newbern road, somewhere near Scott's Hill, and escorted into the city by the Wilmington Light Horse, a volunteer oragnization, under the command of Lieut. Col. John Cowan, the father of Mrs. Col. James G. Green, still a resident of this city. The entrance into the town was made on Market street ,the boundary then being on Fifth. They then proceeded down Market to Front and up Front to the Wilmington Hotel, which stood on the site of the present Purcell House buildings, where the usual formalities of a grand reception were tendered to the President.

"His Excellency was the guest, while here, of Robert Cochran, Esq., who resided on Second street, between Chestnut and Mulberry, in the building now known as the Davis house, and John C. Calhoun, the Secretary of War, and his lady received the hospitalities of Dr. A. J. DeRosset, Sr., at the brick house now standing on the corner of Market and Third streets. Both of these buildings remain very nearly as they were at that time, now more than fifty-four years ago. It was on Thursday that the President arrived here and on Friday, accompanied by Judge Murphy, he paid a visit to Wrights ville. On his return he partook of a dinner with the citizens at the Wilmington Hotel and the next day left this place on the steamer Prometheus, for Fort Johnson (Smithville) from whence he proceeded immediately to Georgetown, S. C.

The entire account of this visit is so interesting that we have concluded to copy it here complete, as appears in the "Minerva," beginning at the correspondence between His Excellency and Hanson Kelly, Esq., Magistrate of Police at that time. It is as follows:

"To the President.

"Sir: The inhabitants of Wilmington wait on you to express their high sense of honor done them by your visit to this town, in your journey through the Southern States. Once only before having been enlivened by the cheering presence of the Chief Magistrate of the Union, we hail the recurrence of the auspicious event with the most pleasing emotions.

"Unalluring as the face of the country renders our local situation, still nature has not witheld all her gifts; and, possessing advantages of navigation, greatly superior to any other part of the State, with the command of rivers stretching into a fertile and populous interior the capacities for commerce are great and extensive. These will obtain, we trust, under your auspices, the fostering care of the general government, in peace; and in war, should our shores again be visited with that calamity, protection commensurate with the importance of their objects.

Strangers until now, to your person, we are not ignorant of the talents and virtues that adorn your character.

The annals of our country have announced your services, in the various and important public stations you have heretofore filled. Your fellow-citizens will view with fresh emotions of admiration, the ardor which you are now displaying for the public good.

Relieved, for a time, from the most laborious duties of the Cabinet, the approbation of a grateful people would have attended your retreat of the relaxation of domestic enjoyment. Regretting the allurements of ease, you have engaged in a new succession of fatigue and privation, exhibiting an example for imitation, to public functionaries of all denominations.

Events, the most propitious, have rendered your administration an epoch of national security and aggrandizement. The united voice of your country, from Maine to Mexico, proclaim the wisdom of councils honorable to you; and in their result, glorious to our extended empire.

May a benign Providence continue His blessings on your endeavors to promote the public weal; and may you ,sir, be the object of His peculiar care and protection.

"HANSON KEELEY.

"Wilmington, N. C."

The President5s Response.

'Sir: On the principle on which I have thought it proper to visit our Atlantic frontier, this town, with its relation to the ocean, had a just claim to attention. It was always my intention to visit it when I should be able to examine the Southern coast; and I am much gratified in having done it as in addition to the satisfaction of having performed an interesting part of my public duty, it has afforded me an opportunity of becoming acquainted with a portion of my fellow-citizens, whose kind reception and obliging attention I shall always recollect with great interest. To secure you in peace, and all the advantages in common, which a kind Providence has enabled you to enjoy, and all the protection in war, to which your situation may expose you, are objects which will never fail to receive the unwearied attention of the general government in all its branches, according to their respective powers. On my exertions, in those concerns which fall within the department which I have the honor to fill, you may confidently rely. In the late event to which you allude I concur in all the favorable anticipations which you have suggested of its happy effects on the best interests of our country. In contemplating this epoch we must all derive peculiar satisfaction from the reflection that it was the result of an arrangement by which our differences were settled with a friendly power, and our peace secured against the prospect of early interruption, on conditions equally honorable to both parties.

"Should I be able by my future conduct in the public service to carry with me into retirement the same favorable opinion of my fellow-citizens, which you have kindly expressed of the past, it will afford me the high consolation to which I have invariably aspired.

"JAMES MONROE.

"To HANSON KELLEY,

"Magistrate of Police of the Town of Wilmington."

Toats at the Dinner.

"The following toasts weer drank at the dinner given in honor of the President of the United States. Hanson Kelley, Esq., Magistrate of Police, presided, assisted by Robert Cochran, Esq., (as Vice-President) Collector of the Customs of the District of Cape Fear:

"1. Our County—The virtue and patriotism of her citizens will be the pledge of her prosperity.

"2. The Constitution of the United States—The wise provision of independent States, against foreign aggressions and domestic collision.

STATE FORESTS.

Interesting Statistics of Conservation in France—Marshes and Sand Dune

From her State forests France derives an annual income of approximately $5,000,000, or $1.75 per acre. Eighteen per cent. of the entire area of the country, or 23,500,000 acres is forest land. Approximately 6,000,000 acres are managed by the State, the annual cost of management being 45 cents per acre.

The great achievement of France in forestry has been the establishment of protective forests where much destruction has been caused by floods. Toward the close of the 18th century about 2,500,000 acres comprised in the Department of the Landes were little more than shifting sand dunes and disease breeding marshes. This section is now one of the richest, most productive and healthful in France.

This marvelous change has been brought about by the intelligent cultivation of pine forests. Immense forests now cover the country, the sand dunes and marshes have long since disappeared, and the wood, charcoal, turpentine, rosin, and kindred industries have brought wonderful prosperity to the entire department, which was formerly the most barren and miasmatic in France. The climate is now mild and balmy, the great change being wrought by the forests. The thin layer of clay beneath the sandy surface, formerly impervious to water, has been so pierced by the roots of the pine that there is now thorough drainage to the spongy earth below.

The manufacture of rosin, tar, turpentine, pitch, pyroligneous acid and wood vinegar is conducted about the same as in Georgia and the Carolinas. The trees destined for "short life" are bled as soon as they are big enough to stand bleeding, when they have a circumference of a foot or 15 inches, the sapping of young trees being the only production of a new forest for a time, and when the "thining out" time comes they are "bled to death," and the timber used largely for pit props, the English demand guaranteeing a steady and profitable market. The "standing trees," those giving promise of most vigor, are never tapped until they are about three feet in circumference. When these have reached the age of 50 or 60 years they are cut down and utilized for telegraph poles and railway ties.

To prevent the spread of forest fires, wide trenches are dug about limited areas, and the space kept clear.

"No Wedding Bells for Him"

A prominent rabbi of Pittsburg met recently at a dinner a priest whom he had known intimately years before. During the meal the conversation took a bantering turn, and the father, turning to the rabbi, inquired: "My friend, when are you going to begin eating pork?" Instantly the rabbi replied, "At your wedding, sir."— From Success Magazine.

Indications of Catarrh of the Head.

The symptoms of Catarrh of the head are: discharge from the nasal passage, mucous dropping into the throat, pains under the cheek bones, severe headache on taking cold, dizziness and confusion of the senses. Catarrh of the head is a stubborn disease and hard to cure, but Rydale's Catarrh Remedy will cure nine cases in ten. You risk nothing in using this preparation, as every bottle is sold on a guarantee. It is the only remedy in the world that is used both locally in the nasal passages and taken internally. The Seaboard Tour

Washington, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Thousand Islands, Montreal, Quebec, Down Lake George and Champlain and Four Days in New York City, at Very Attractive Rates.

Leaves September 1st—Personally Conducted by Mr. C. H. Gattis.

The SEABOARD announces their second ANNUAL TOUR, personally conducted, by C. H. Gattis, District Passenger Agent, chaperoned by Mrs. C. H. Gattis, same being under their personal supervision, through the North and Canada, taking in all the principal and most attractive Resorts in the East, leaving Raleigh September 1st, via Portsmouth—Norfolk, Old Point Comfort, up the historic Potomac to Washington, thence through Baltimore, Philadelphia and the scenic Lehigh valley to Niagara Falls, Toronto, taking in the Grand Toronto Exhibition, through the Thousand Islands, down the St. Lawrence River to Montreal and Quebec, returning via Lake George and Lake Champlain through Saratoga and Albany to New York, where four days will be spent.

The cost of the trip will include railroad, steamship and Pullman fares, transfers hotel accommodations, side trips, etc., as shown in itinerary—in fact will include practically every necessary expense with the exception of a few meals en route and while in New York city, and is made at the lowest possible amount.

This route has been selected after the most careful consideration, giving the best advantage for sight-seeing at most interesting points. Sufficient length of time will be spent at all stop-over points for sight-seeing and all arrangements made for the pleasure and comfort of the party.

C. H. Gattis, District Passenger Agent, will devote his entire time to the party and will look after all necessary details, etc., for the comfort and pleasure of all, and this is assured as the Seaboard has had considerable experience in handling these tours, as any one who has been with them in the past will be glad to tell you.

Mr. and Mrs. Gattis will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. James Ker, Jr., of Charlotte, N. C.

For itinerary of tour write at once to the undersigned and those who desire descriptive literature relative to route over which party will travel, etc., will be forwarded same upon receipt of request with 25 cents in postage to cover mailing of same.

The party is fast filling up and those desiring to join should make reservation without delay.

Attractive Variable Route—Excursion Fares by the ATLANTIC COAST LINE.

The Atlantic Coast Line has issued a folder announcing attractive excursion fares to a number of Eastern resorts, including Niagara Falls, Montreal and Quebec, going and returning by the Atlantic Coast Line as far as Washington, but by widely variable routes north of that city, that is, a passenger can select almost any route from Washington to destination and return by almost any other regular route.

These rates open up a new method of traveling and will no doubt be largely patronized, as New York, Boston and nearly all the Eastern resorts can be reached by one of these "Variable Routes," or what may be more properly termed "Circular Tour," tickets especially as liberal stop-over privileges will be allowed.

One of the folders giving the routes in detail with rates and other information may be obtained by calling on or addressing the undersigned.

BETWEEN ROUNDS.

Rifts In the Clouds That Darkened the House of McCaskey.

By O. HENRY.

[Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.]

The May moon shone bright upon the private boarding house of Mrs. Murphy. By reference to the almanac a large amount of territory will be discovered upon which its rays also fell. Spring was in its heyday, with hay fever soon to follow. The parks were green with new leaves and buyers for the western and southern trade. Flowers and summer resort agents were blowing. The air and answers to

"PIG'S FACE, IS IT?" SAID MRS. M'CASKEY.

Lawson were growing milder. Hand organs, fountains and penuchle were playing everywhere.

The windows of Mrs. Murphy's boarding house were open. A group of boarders were seated on the high stoop upon round, flat mats like German pancakes.

In one of the second floor front windows Mrs. McCaskey awaited her husband. Supper was cooling on the table. Its heat went into Mrs. McCaskey.

At 9 Mr. McCaskey came. He carried his coat on his arm and his pipe in his teeth, and he apologized for disturbing the boarders on the steps as he selected spots of stone between them on which to set his size 9, width D.

As he opened the door of his room he received a surprise. Instead of the usual stove lid or potato masher for him to dodge came only words.

Mr. McCaskey reckoned that the benign May moon had softened the breast of his spouse.

"I heard ye," came the oral substitutes for kitchenware. "Ye can apollygize to riffraff of the streets for settin' yer unhandy feet on the tails of their frocks, but ye'd walk on the neck of yer wife the length of a clothesline without so much as a 'Kiss me fut,' and I'm sure it's that long from rubberin' out the windy for ye, and the victuals cold such as there's money to buy after drinkin' up yer wages at Gallegher's every Saturday evenin', and the gas man here twice today for his."

"Woman," said Mr. McCaskey, dashing his coat and hat upon a chair, "the noise of ye is an insult to me appetite. When ye run down politeness ye take the mortar from between the bricks of the foundations of society. 'Tis no more than exercisin' the acrimony of a gentleman when ye ask the dissent of ladies blockin' the way for steppin' between them. Will ye bring the pig's face of ye out of the windy and see to the food?"

Mrs. McCaskey arose heavily and went to the stove. There was something in her manner that warned Mr. McCaskey. When the corners of her mouth went down suddenly like a barometer it usually foretold a fall of crockery and tinware.

"Pig's face, is it?" said Mrs. McCaskey and hurled a stewpan full of bacon and turnips at her lord.

Mr. McCaskey was no novice at repartee. He knew what should follow the entree. On the table was a roast sirloin of pork garnished with shamrocks. He retorted with this and drew the appropriate return of a bread pudding in an earthen dish. A hunk of Swiss cheese accurately thrown by her husband struck Mrs. McCaskey below one eye. When she replied with a well aimed coffeepot full of a hot, black, semifragrant liquid the battle, according to courses, should have ended.

But Mr. McCaskey was no fifty cent table d'hoter. Let cheap bohemians consider coffee the end if they would. Let them make that faux pas. He was foxier still. Finger bowls were not beyond the compass of his experience. They were not to be had in the Pension Murphy, but their equivalent was at hand. Triumphantly he sent the graniteware wash basin at the head of his matrimonial adversary. Mrs. McCaskey dodged in time. She reached for a flatiron, with which, as a sort of cordial, she hoped to bring the gastronomical duel to a close. But a loud, wailing scream downstairs caused both her and Mr. McCaskey to pause in a sort of involuntary armistice.

On the sidewalk at the corner of the house Policeman Cleary was standing, with one ear upturned, listening to the crash of household utensils.

"'Tis Jawn McCaskey and his missis at it again," meditated the policeman. "I wonder shall I go up and stop the row. I will not. Married folks they are, and few pleasures they have. 'Twill not last long. Sure, they'll have to borrow more dishes to keep it up with."

And just then came the loud scream below stairs, betokening fear or dire extremity. "'Tis probably the cat," said Policeman Cleary and walked hastily in the other direction.

The boarders on the steps were fluttered. Mr. Toomey, an insurance solicitor by birth and an investigator by profession, went inside to analyze the scream. He returned with the news that Mrs. Murphy's little boy, Mike, was lost. Following the messenger, out bounced Mrs. Murphy—200 pounds in tears and hysterics, clutching the air and howling to the sky for the loss of thirty pounds of freckles and mischief. Bathos truly, but Mr. Toomey sat down at the side of Miss Purdy, millinery, and their hands came together in sympathy. The two old maids, Misses Walsh, who complained every day about the noise in the halls, inquired immediately if anybody had looked behind the clock.

Major Grigg, who sat by his fat wife on the top step, arose and buttoned his coat. "The little one lost?" he exclaimed. "I will scour the city." His wife never allowed him out after dark. But now she said "Go, Ludovic!" in a baritone voice. "Whoever can look upon that mother's grief without springing to her relief has a heart of stone." "Give me some 30 or—60 cents, my love," said the major. "Lost children sometimes stray far. I may need car fares."

Old man Denny, hall room, fourth floor back, who sat on the lowest step, trying to read a paper by the street lamp, turned over a page to follow up the article about the carpenters' strike. Mrs. Murphy shrieked to the moon, "Oh, ar-r-Mike; f'r Gawd's sake, where is me little bit av a boy?"

"Wen'd ye see him last?" asked old man Denny, with one eye on the report of the Building Trades league.

"Oh," wailed Mrs. Murphy, "'twas yisterday, or maybe four hours ago! I dunno. But it's lost he is, me little boy Mike. He was playin' on the sidewalk only this mornin'—or was it Wednesday? I'm that busy with work 'tis hard to keep up with dates. But I've looked the house over from top to cellar, and it's gone he is. Oh, for the love av hiven"—

Silent, grim, colossal, the big city has ever stood against its revilers. They call it hard as iron; they say that no pulse of pity beats in its bosom; they compare its streets with lonely forests and deserts of lava. But beneath the hard crust of the lobster is found a delectable and luscious food. Perhaps a different simile would have been wiser. Still, nobody should take offense. We would call no one a lobster without good and sufficient claws.

No calamity so touches the common heart of humanity as does the straying of a little child. Its feet are so uncertain and feeble. The ways are so steep and strange.

Major Griggs hurried down to the corner and up the avenue into Billy's place. "Gimme a rye high," he said to the servitor. "Haven't seen a bow legged, dirty faced little devil of a six-year-old lost kid around anywhere, have you?"

Mr. Toomey retained Miss Purdy's hand on the steps. "Think of that dear little babe," said Miss Purdy, "lost from his mother's side, perhaps already fallen beneath the iron hoofs of galloping steeds. Oh, isn't it dreadful?"

"Ain't that right?" agreed Mr. Toomey, squeezing her hand. "Say I start out and help look for um!"

"Perhaps," said Miss Purdy, "you should. But, oh, Mr. Toomey, you are so dashing, so reckless. Suppose in your enthusiasm some accident should befall you, then what"—

Old man Denny read on about the arbitration agreement, with one finger on the lines.

In the second floor front Mr. and Mrs. McCaskey came to the window to recover their second wind. Mr. McCaskey was scooping turnips out of his vest with a crooked forefinger, and his lady was wiping an eye that the salt of the roast pork had not benefited. They heard the outcry below and thrust their heads out of the window.

"'Tis little Mike is lost," said Mrs. McCaskey in a hushed voice, "the beautiful little trouble making angel of a gossoon!"

"The bit of a boy mislaid," said Mr. McCaskey, leaning out of the window. "Why, now, that's bad enough, entirely. The childer, they be different. If 'twas a woman I'd be willin', for they leave peace behind 'em when they go."

Disregarding the thrust, Mrs. McCaskey caught her husband's arm.

"Jawn," she said sentimentally, "Missis Murphy's little bye is lost. 'Tis a great city for losing little boys. Six years old he was. Jawn, 'tis the same age our little bye would have been if we had had one six years ago."

"We never did," said Mr. McCaskey, lingering with the fact.

"But if we had, Jawn, think what sorrow would be in our hearts this night with our little Phelan run away and stolen in the city nowheres at all."

"Ye talk foolishness," said Mr. McCaskey. "'Tis Pat he would be named, after me old father in Antrim."

"Ye lie!" said Mrs. McCaskey, without anger. "Me brother was worth tin dozen bog trotting McCaskeys. After him would the bye be named." She leaned over the window sill and looked down at the hurrying and bustle below.

"Jawn," said Mrs. McCaskey softly, "I'm sorry I was hasty wid ye."

"'Twas hasty puddin', as ye say," said her husband, "and hurry up turnips and get a move on ye coffee. 'Twas what ye could call a quick lunch, all right, and tell no lie."

Mrs. McCaskey slipped her arm inside her husband's and took his rough hand in hers.

"Listen at the cryin' of poor Mrs. Murphy," she said. "'Tis an awful thing for a bit of a bye to be lost in this great big city. If 'twas our little Phelan, John, I'd be breakin' me heart."

Awkwardly Mr. McCaskey withdrew his hand. But he laid it around the nearing shoulders of his wife.

"'Tis foolishness, of course," said he roughly, "but I'd be cut up some meself if our little Pat was kidnaped or anything. But there never was any childer for us. Sometimes I've been ugly and hard with ye, Judy. Forget it."

They leaned together and looked down at the heart drama being acted below.

Long they sat thus. People surged along the sidewalk, crowding, questioning, filling the air with rumors and inconsequent surmises. Mrs. Murphy plowed back and forth in their midst like a soft mountain, down which plunged an audible cataract of tears. Couriers came and went.

Loud voices and a renewed uproar were raised in front of the boarding house.

"What's up now, Judy?" asked Mr. McCaskey.

"'Tis Missis Murphy's voice," said Mrs. McCaskey, harking. "She says she's after finding little Mike asleep behind the roll of old linoleum under the bed in her room."

Mr. McCaskey laughed loudly.

"That's yer Phelan," he shouted sardonically. "Divil a bit would a Pat have done that trick. If the bye we never had is strayed and stole, by the powers, call him Phelan and see him hide out under the bed like a mangy pup."

Mrs. McCaskey arose heavily and went toward the dish closet with the corners of her mouth drawn down.

Policeman Cleary came back around the corner as the crowd dispersed. Surprised, he upturned an ear toward the McCaskey apartment, where the crash of irons and chinaware and the ring of hurled kitchen utensils seemed as loud as before. Policeman Cleary took out his timepiece.

"By the deported snakes," he exclaimed, "Jawn McCaskey and his lady have been fightin' for an hour and a quarter by the watch! The missis could give him forty pounds weight. Strength to his arm."

"THE BIT OF A BOY MISLAID?" SAID MR. M'CASKEY.

Policeman Cleary strolled back around the corner.

Old man Denny folded his paper and hurried up the steps just as Mrs. Murphy was about to lock the door for the night.

Student Humor.

"When a student does not know the answer to an examination question he does one of three things," said a University of Pennsylvania professor recently. "If he is a good student he will simply leave a blank space, while if he is not he will either try to bluff it through or else pass it off as a joke. These latter cases are rare, and the result is generally painful and does harm to the student who wrote the paper. Occasionally, however, there will be a real gem, which does the student good by putting the professor in a good humor and so making him unconsciously mark the paper less severely. I came across two such gems in one paper recently. One question was 'Who was St. Bruno?' to which the student replied, 'St. Bruno was a Great Dane, a brother of St. Bernard.' The other question was, 'What was the difference between the major prophets and the minor prophets?' Here he answered, 'It would not be right for me, a sinner, to make invidious comparisons between such holy men.'"—Philadelphia Record.

When England Shook.

In the course of its long history England has known a few serious earthquake shocks. In the days of William Rufus one was felt throughout the country, and in 1274 an English earthquake destroyed Glastonbury among its other damage, while part of St. Paul's cathedral fell in as the result of an earthquake in the sixteenth century. Perhaps the most recent serious shock was that which inflicted much damage in the eastern counties in 1884. A Mansion House fund was opened for the sufferers.—London Chronicle.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Aug. 28.—The day was rather quiet in the dry goods markets, but shipping rooms in jobbing houses were kept busy after the regular closing hours. Cotton goods and yarns are now being affected by the approach of a Government crop report, due next week, after which time it is expected that mills will be more ready to sell. Linens continue very strong. Burlaps are steady and in fair spot demand. Fine cottons are very strong.

MARKET GOSSIP.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Aug. 28.—Lowest prices of the week and in some instances for a month or more were made in today's stock market. Union Pacific sold off to 184 1-2, which represents a decline of over 23 points from its price of a fortnight ago. Southern Pacific and other stocks in which the Harriman interest is supposed to be dominant also suffered severely in the course of the brief session.

Before the end of the first hour Union Pacific had declined over five points and Southern Pacific two. The entire list was thrown into a state of violent disorder, in the course of which the most alarming stories concerning Mr. Hariman were circulated. In the final hour, however, authoritative dsnial was made of the report that Mr. Harriman had prepared to submit to a surgical operation, and the market rallied all around.

The closing was spirited, with the railly still under way. The business of the two hours was over 475,000 shares, of which more than two-thirds was again in half a dozen issues, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, United States Steel, Reading, Atchison and American Smelting.

The bond market was irregular with total sales amounting to $1,802,000 par value. In United States Government bonds the 3s gained 1-2 per cent., and the registered 4s 1-4 per cent. on the week Total sales for the day were 561,300 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

How Attraction Acts.

Attraction acts very curiously. Thus if there were a man in the moon and if he were like the men on the earth he would be able to leap over a three storied house with as much ease as an ordinary jumper springs over a three foot fence in consequence of the forces of attraction being much less at the moon's surface than at the earth's. An elephant there would be as light footed as the deer here. A boy throwing stones might easily land them in an adjoining county. On the other hand, the reverse of all this would happen in Jupiter or Saturn. They being so much greater than the earth, their attraction would so impede locomotion that a man would scarcely be able to crawl, and large animals would be crushed by their own weight.

In the Land of Windmills.

The Dutch when they invite you, and they are not a guest seeking race, are extremely hospitable and make you at once welcome. Sometimes, however, when it comes to dinner, their active hospitality demands an energetic recognition. The table is laid with piles of plates before each chair. On your first visit the spoons and forks are heavy silver, the knives of the finest steel and ivory. You never, however, eat with them again. When you have been shown that a family possesses them that ends it. You eat thereafter from everyday ware.

"What would the silver be like for our descendants if we used it often?" an old lady asked me. "What would we have if our ancestors had been careless?"—Eva Madden in Harper's Bazar.

A Curiosity In Boundaries.

About 600 yards from the station at Herseaux, at the crossroads from Oudenarde to Roubaix, on the way from Tournal to Monseton, there is a directing post which from a topographical point of view is a curiosity. This post marks the separation between the two countries, France and Belgium; three provinces or departments, Le Nord, western Flanders and Hainault; three bishoprics, Cambral, Burges and Tournal. Three races dwell around it, speaking three languages, French, Flemish and Wallon. It is also in three communes, Wattrelos, Herseaux and Estaimplus.—London Globe.

Entertain the President in the City of Wilmington.

I notice it's the intention of the Executive Committee on the entertainment of the President to carry him to the Fort on his visit to this historic city.

I think a reasonable estimate of the visitors that will be in the city on that occasion will be at least 7,000 to 8,000, who come solely on account of the chief executive of this country being within the gates of our city.

Now to make this river trip proposed, it will consume five to six hours right at the time the people are pouring into the city to see their President. We certainly should have some consideration for our citizens and those thousands of visitors and give them every opportunity to see the greatest executive of the world. By all means call the river trip off.

Respectfully,
L. B. ROGERS.

his speed seemed appreciably to decrease on the last round and before he reached the final turn th stop watches showed that he ad lost. The French crowds were greatly disappointed at the failure of their countrymen, but largely owing to the popularity of the Wrights in France and the general French recognition of the wonderful stimulus Americans have given to the science of aviation, no foreign victory could have been so popular as that of an American.

They immediately ran up the American flag on the signal pole on the timekeepers' stand in front of the tribunes and the bands played the Star Spangled Banner. There was great rejoicing among the American spectators.

When the American flag went up, Curtiss, who had refused to accept congratulations until it was officially announced that Bleriot's time was slower than his, was escorted, or rather dragged from the shed, to the Ambassador's box by several hundred enthusiastic Americans.

Mr. White congratulated Curtiss in the name of the government and the people of the United States and then presented Mrs. White and Mrs. Roosevelt as well as the other members of the party who added their congratulations in warm terms. Quentin said: "It was bully," at which everybody laughed. Mrs. Roosevelt expressed regret that the ex-President was not there to witness the American victory.

Only Lefebvre and Farnam appeared in the passenger-carrying contests late in the afternoon. The former covered a lap with one passenger in 11 minutes 20 4-5 seconds. Farman carried one passenger in 8 minutes 52 4-5 seconds and two passengers in 10 minutes 39 seconds.

Ambassador Henry White, accompanied by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, Quentin and Archie, arrived in time to witness the flights by Bleriot and Latham from a special box placed at the disposal of the city.

They saw Bleriot clip 5 2-5 seconds off Curtiss, fastest round in the international in a ten kilometre flight in the lap speed contest, making the distance in 7 minutes 47 4-5 seconds, which is a new world's record, and Henry Farman, who yesterday won the Prix de LaChampagne, added to his laurels by carrying two passengers around the course.
